School Suit Hearing May Get Started Soon

When the next move in the taxpayer suit against six school boards here will take place today remained highly conjectural.

In general, the suit was brought by a dozen taxpayers as co-plaintiffs to force the formation of a Citizens Committee representing the whole of Fayette County (including Washington C. H.) to study the overall school problems.

Defendants in the suit are the Fayette County School Board, the Washington C. H. School Board and the Miami Trace, Bloomingburg, Jefferson and Paint District boards.

The deadline for filing answers to the suit was last Saturday.

The Washington C. H. board filed the only answer; the other boards, all concurring, filed motions asking that certain sections of the petition be stricken out.

The motions filed just before the deadline by all the boards, except the Washington C. H. board, served to set back the answer date automatically.

The Washington C. H. board in its answer, set in substance, that the facts set forth in the taxpayer petition were true and joined the taxpayer plaintiffs in asking for relief from certain conditions.

Since the suit was filed in Probate Court, with Sam Marting the signatory, Judge Robert L. Brubaker said he had asked attorneys for both sides to agree on a date for a hearing on the motions in the near future.

He said he hoped to hear the arguments on the motions this month. He added that if the attorneys cannot agree on a date for hearing the motions soon, he would assign a hearing date himself.

After the hearing on the motions, an answer date is to be set by Judge Brubaker and after that the case is to be heard on its merits. Judge Brubaker said he would see the case through the preliminary stages but would ask Chief Justice Carl V. Weyand of the state Supreme Court to assign another judge to hear the case on its merits.

Wild Animal Reported Seen On Hidy Road

Is a vicious wild animal roaming about in northern Fayette County?

Sheriff Orland Hays was called to the Hidy Road two or three miles south of Bookwalter about 10:30 P. M. Tuesday, by a report that a strange animal, apparently very vicious, had been seen in the vicinity, along Paint Creek.

The call came from Max Allen after Harry Merriman of Bookwalter, operating a tractor for Allen, had seen the animal, late in the afternoon and declined to work in the vicinity after nightfall.

Allen, investigating, also saw the animal which was described as yellow and brown and emitting deep growls.

No trace of the beast could be found by Sheriff Hays, but reports indicate that it was a wild animal of some kind and one that is vicious. Farmers are asked to be on the lookout for the beast.

Grad, 86, Kinda Sad To Leave The Coeds

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Like all graduating seniors, John Burgoyne Ely is just a bit sad his college days are about over.

Ely is 86. "I'll miss those coeds, 8 o'clock classes and coffee breaks," Ely said yesterday. "They kept me from feeling my age."

Six of Ely's seven children will be on hand when he gets his diploma at UCLA Saturday. Four grandchildren will be there too. Ely's degree is a bachelor of arts in music. During four years of college his grades were all A's and B's.

Adlai Swamps Kefauver In California Poll

Stevenson's Delegate Total Now 259½ Far From 686½ He Needs

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson swept to a thunderous California victory today that all but knocked Sen. Estes Kefauver out of the running of the Democratic presidential nomination.

Stevenson took California's 68 Democratic convention votes by what approached a landslide margin and forged so far ahead of his rivals that he looked like the man to beat for his party's nomination. He was getting 62 per cent of the vote.

Including yesterday's California, Montana and South Dakota primaries, Stevenson has 259 delegates and Kefauver 166. Other candidates have 226 total and 370½ are uncommitted publicly.

While this left Stevenson substantially short of the 686½ nominating figure, the impetus of his California victory seemed likely to win him support from previously undecided delegates and others still to be chosen.

Despite his California showing, the former Illinois governor apparently failed to match in his own ballot total the count rolled up by an unopposed 70-vote delegate slate backing President Eisenhower for the GOP nomination.

BUT IN THEIR bitterly-fought primary, the combined vote Democrats gave Stevenson and Kefauver topped substantially the ballots cast in the unexciting GOP contest. Registered Democrats outnumbered Republicans by 782,000 in the state, which Eisenhower won from Stevenson by 700,000 in 1952.

With 15,580 of 24,160 precincts counted, the Democratic contest stood: Stevenson 601,583, Kefauver 364,809.

The Republican count from 13,851 precincts gave Eisenhower 596,589. On this basis Eisenhower was certain to top Stevenson.

Conceding defeat early today, Kefauver said he will continue campaigning for the Democratic nomination. He said he will not accept a vice presidential place on the ticket, an offer not likely to come to him if Stevenson wins the top spot.

Kefauver said in a congratulatory telegram to Stevenson he and his supporters will do "everything possible for the election of Democratic candidates in the general election and to bring California back into the Democratic fold in November." The Tennessee senator said he had "no regrets and no alibis" for his defeat.

Stevenson obviously was relieved that primary campaigning ended with California's final contested election before the August party convention. He said he was "delighted by the results." He added, in what seemed to be a reference to the November election that "This is only the first step in a long campaign."

Supreme Court Judges Studying Disbarment Case

COLUMBUS (AP)—Ohio Supreme Court judges today studied oral arguments on the request by a committee of lawyers for disbarment of J. Harvey Crow, Cleveland attorney formerly of Urbana.

The committee appealed from appellate court reversal of Crow's disbarment on May 14, 1955, by Champaign County common pleas court. The appellate court returned the case to the trial court for findings of fact and conclusions of law and re-entry of such judgment as the case might require.

Crow was disbarred for alleged unprofessional conduct. His counsel contended that notice of appeal was not filed within the legal time limit.

Counsel asked dismissal of the committee's request to review the appellate court decision.

Stanley Denlinger of Akron made the oral arguments in yesterday's hearing for Crow. Attorney Reed Winegardner of Washington C. H., also counsel for Crow, was present in the courtroom. D. H. Jackman of London presented arguments for the committee.

Vaccine Developed From Own Cancer Given To 30 Patients In Experiment

DETROIT (AP)—Some 30 cancer-stricken humans have been given vaccines made from their own cancers, a Boston physician disclosed today.

It is too early to tell whether they benefited. But there are signs they did, and good experimental reasons to think the vaccines can help.

Each vaccine was prepared from bits of each person's own cancer, and then injected under the skin of that same person. The aim was to increase natural resistance to far-advanced cancer.

It could work by forming antibodies against the cancer, and by increasing the number of healthy defensive cells that resist the spread of cancer.

X-rays to kill cancer cells are given soon afterward.

The new experimental work was described to the third National Cancer Conference by Dr. John B. Graham, a physician, and his wife Ruth, a cytologist or expert on cells. Both are from the Vincent Memorial Hospital in Boston.

Mrs. Graham has found an apparent reason for the tragic difference often noted in how well women respond to X-ray treatments of cancer of the cervix, the neck of the womb.

She finds the results best if the women, before treatment, already have high amounts of one or both of two types of healthy useful cells, found near the cancerous cells.

If they have high amounts of both, 85 per cent of women are still living five years after X-ray treatment. If they have low amounts, only 19 per cent survive.

The Grahams are seeking ways of artificially increasing the number of these healthy, useful cells.

There is evidence so far that one patient developed specific antibodies against her own cancer, the Grahams said. It is too early to say whether they had an improvement in the response of healthy cells, and a bigger killing effect upon the cancer cells from X-rays.

In Washington, the Senate added $58 million yesterday to the $126½ million President Eisenhower had asked for continued research on cancer, heart disease, mental ills, arthritis and other diseases.

It did so in passing by voice vote a $2,372,523,281 money bill to finance the Welfare and Labor departments in the bookkeeping year starting July 1.

The measure now goes to conference with the House, which had voted $9 million more than Eisenhower asked for research by the National Institutes of Health. There are other differences between the two versions which also must be resolved.

12 Years Ago, It Was D-Day

Omaha Beach Seeing Pilgrimages Today

OMAHA BEACH, France (AP)—Even to the French peasants who live nearby, this beach where the Allies landed 12 years ago today is known as Omaha.

Their pronunciation may be different, but they have learned the name from serious-faced visitors who have come in search of graves and from old soldiers seeking spots burned into their memory of D-Day.

Signs now direct visitors to points of interest along the landing areas. The signs are in French but two invasion names have stuck, Omaha and Utah, the Normandy beaches where the might of the Allies struck to drive back the forces of Nazi Germany.

Today's 12th anniversary of D-Day found residents and visitors again making the annual pilgrimage to the channel-washed strip of brown sand.

The sad gentle sound of taps played by military buglers was only the faintest echo of the fury of that day, when the West mustered a mighty air and sea armada to launch the invasion of Normandy.

TODAY'S military observances were largely confined to the cemeteries—French, British and Canadian—scattered along the coast. The schedule called for the usual speeches, rifle salutes and sounding of taps before the visitors moved quietly through the ordered rows of graves or walked reflectively along the beaches.

Omaha shows almost no trace of the invasion. A rusted landing ship can be seen far down the beach. At low tide the broken skeletons of the harbor made of sunken ships poke through the channel waters. That's about all.

Future Prisoners May Earn Own Pay

ST. LOUIS (AP)—An expert on prisons says it will become common practice someday for prisoners to earn enough in the penitentiary to support their families at home.

Isaac Gurman, executive director of the St. Louis Bureau for Men, said wages may also be large enough to permit a prisoner to pay back to the state a reasonable amount for board and room and to build a savings toward the time when he is released.

In an address to the Missouri Assn. for Social Welfare, Gurman suggested legislation compelling state agencies to purchase goods made at Missouri penitentiary.

President Sees Need For Check On Yugoslavia

Chief Says Nation Must Continue To Wage Fight For Peace

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower said today it would be tragic if Congress doesn't support his foreign aid program. But he believes there should be a re-study of aid for Yugoslavia.

Eisenhower opened his news conference with a lengthy discussion of the foreign aid question, linking it to the fact that this is the 12th anniversary of D-Day, the beginning of the Normandy invasion in World War II.

With emphasis, Eisenhower said that now, as long as we aren't shooting, we aren't spending a tenth as much money as if we were.

We must continue to wage the peace, he said. We must support such programs as the Mutual Security Act and we must have a continuing study of the program to keep it on the right track.

Eisenhower spoke against the background of a $1,109,000,000 cut by the House Foreign Affairs Committee in the administration's $4,900,000,000 foreign aid bill.

SOME LEGISLATORS, moreover, have been talking of stopping aid to Yugoslavia in view of the apparent reconciliation between Yugoslavia's Marshal Tito and the Russians.

Tito is visiting in Russia. As to that development, Eisenhower told a questioner he doesn't consider what he called the Tito incident entirely a loss.

Eisenhower asked why Tito had been received in Moscow with such elaborate acclaim and then answered his own question:

It was because of the success Tito had in defying the Soviet regime. To get him back the Russians had to make great concessions.

Eisenhower said this would cause the Russians to think seriously about relations with other satellites.

Still, Eisenhower said, there must be another look at American aid to Yugoslavia in the light of what serves our best interests.

The President drew away from taking sides in primary contests between Republicans. Eisenhower said he believes it is not the place of the President of the United States to intervene in primaries.

Also on the political front, Eisenhower declined to shed any light on whether he may campaign more vigorously this fall than he indicated in February. He said at that time he would do no barnstorming or whistle stop speaking, and would confine his efforts to mass communication approaches—that is, through news papers, television and radio.

A REPORTER told Eisenhower that last week he had remarked at a Citizens for Eisenhower rally that he would "campaign" as energetically and as enthusiastically as he could.

Eisenhower interrupted to deny that he had ever used the word "campaign." He said he had talked rather of carrying on his responsibilities cheerfully and energetically.

As for whether he may make more than the half dozen television speeches, which the Republican National Committee has indicated are on the schedule, the President said he has not discussed the matter with anyone.

Chamber of Commerce members, brightly adorned in colorful baseball caps, are touring the streets today signing up Chamber members in one of the looniest "baseball" seasons that has been seen around here in quite a spell.

The men are recruiting for members in hopes of upping their "team's" batting average and thus winning the "world championship" in this year's annual spring membership drive.

Campaigning began Wednesday morning with a kickoff breakfast at the Washington Hotel here, at which baseball commissioner Wayne Bower told the four teams to get in there and fight for the pennant.

Merchants and businessmen around town will be taking part in the campaign from now until Friday night. Team members will be pounding the streets, hoping to sign up new and delinquent members to full chamber membership.

With the campaigners will be a record of Chamber accomplishments during last year ranging from preparation of the business index to presentation of the city's new master plan. The men will use the record as the mainstay of their campaign sales talk.

Reports on campaign progress will be made at regular campaign breakfasts each morning at the hotel. The umpire (Chamber Executive Bill Stoughton) and the official scorekeeper (Stoughton's secretary, Darlene Davis) will keep day-to-day tabs on progress to see who's leading the league.

MEMBERS OF THE world championship team at the end of the season will be guests at a dinner Saturday night, with the losers

Ohio Supreme Court Rules Pinballs Gambling Devices

COLUMBUS (AP)—The Ohio Supreme Court today held that pinball machines which reward players with free games are gambling devices, banned by law.

The 6-0 decision came in a test case brought by Westernhaus, Inc., Cincinnati, a pinball distributor.

The decision may mean the end of the pinball business in Ohio because no reward of any kind, not even free plays, may be offered to prospective players.

Because the decision is based on state law rather than on local ordinances, it will affect all pinball machines in Ohio, attorneys said.

A number of Ohio cities have had licensing ordinances similar to Cincinnati's.

The firm sought a declaratory judgment on whether the machines were gambling devices under a Cincinnati ordinance licensing pinball machines. The company also asked an injunction against seizure of some 200 machines by the city.

The Supreme Court said:

"WHERE IT IS necessary to put a nickel into a pinball machine in order to operate it, and where the operation of such machine may enable the operator to replay the machine merely by pushing a button and without a further payment for such replay if the operator obtains a sufficient score, such operation constitutes gambling devices."

Hamilton County common pleas court granted the requested injunction, but an appellate court reversed. Appellate judges said free games awarded for high scores made the machines gambling devices and said that violated the state's constitutional ban against lotteries.

Westernhaus contended the machines were legal because their payoff was nothing of legal value.

Judge Kingsley A. Taft wrote the Supreme Court opinion affirming the appellate court's decision.

Concurring were Judges John M. Mathias, William L. Hart, James F. Bell, Chief Justice Carl V. Weyand and C. B. McClintock, judge of the Fifth District Court of Appeals, sitting by assignment.

Supreme Court Judge James Garfield Stewart of Cincinnati voluntarily withdrew from the case. Judge Charles B. Zimmerman of the high court was silent.

The men are recruiting for members in hopes of upping their "team's" batting average and thus winning the "world championship" in this year's annual spring membership drive.

Campaigning began Wednesday morning with a kickoff breakfast at the Washington Hotel here, at which baseball commissioner Wayne Bower told the four teams to get in there and fight for the pennant.

Merchants and businessmen around town will be taking part in the campaign from now until Friday night. Team members will be pounding the streets, hoping to sign up new and delinquent members to fill chamber membership.

With the campaigners will be a record of Chamber accomplishments during last year ranging from preparation of the business index to presentation of the city's new master plan. The men will use the record as the mainstay of their campaign sales talk.

Reports on campaign progress will be made at regular campaign breakfasts each morning at the hotel. The umpire (Chamber Executive Bill Stoughton) and the official scorekeeper (Stoughton's secretary, Darlene Davis) will keep day-to-day tabs on progress to see who's leading the league.

MEMBERS OF THE world championship team at the end of the season will be guests at a dinner Saturday night, with the losers

The number of graduates has been decreasing annually due to the school's policy of integrating its students into local public schools where possible.

Ohio Supreme Court Rules Pinballs Gambling Devices

COLUMBUS (AP)—The Ohio Supreme Court today held that pinball machines which reward players with free games are gambling devices, banned by law.

The 6-0 decision came in a test case brought by Westernhaus, Inc., Cincinnati, a pinball distributor.

The decision may mean the end of the pinball business in Ohio because no reward of any kind, not even free plays, may be offered to prospective players.

Because the decision is based on state law rather than on local ordinances, it will affect all pinball machines in Ohio, attorneys said.

A number of Ohio cities have had licensing ordinances similar to Cincinnati's.

The firm sought a declaratory judgment on whether the machines were gambling devices under a Cincinnati ordinance licensing pinball machines. The company also asked an injunction against seizure of some 200 machines by the city.

The Supreme Court said:

"WHERE IT IS necessary to put a nickel into a pinball machine in order to operate it, and where the operation of such machine may enable the operator to replay the machine merely by pushing a button and without a further payment for such replay if the operator obtains a sufficient score, such operation constitutes gambling devices."

Hamilton County common pleas court granted the requested injunction, but an appellate court reversed. Appellate judges said free games awarded for high scores made the machines gambling devices and said that violated the state's constitutional ban against lotteries.

Westernhaus contended the machines were legal because their payoff was nothing of legal value.

Judge Kingsley A. Taft wrote the Supreme Court opinion affirming the appellate court's decision.

Concurring were Judges John M. Matthias, William L. Hart, James F. Bell, Chief Justice Carl V. Weyand and C. B. McClintock, judge of the Fifth District Court of Appeals, sitting by assignment.

Supreme Court Judge James Garfield Stewart of Cincinnati voluntarily withdrew from the case. Judge Charles B. Zimmerman of the high court was silent.

Manure Spreader Kills Girl, 2

CHILLICOTHE (AP)—A 2-year-old girl was killed yesterday when she fell from a tractor into the path of a manure spreader.

Pamela Lunsford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Lunsford of Kingston, was sitting on the lap of an older brother, Jack, while riding on a tractor with her grandfather, Bert Jackson, on a farm about three miles east of Kingston.

Officials said the wheel of the spreader ran over her head.

President Sees Need For Check On Yugoslavia

Chief Says Nation Must Continue To Wage Fight For Peace

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower said today it would be tragic if Congress doesn't support his foreign aid program. But he believes there should be a re-study of aid for Yugoslavia.

Eisenhower opened his news conference with a lengthy discussion of the foreign aid question, linking it to the fact that this is the 12th anniversary of D-Day, the beginning of the Normandy invasion in World War II.

With emphasis, Eisenhower said that now, as long as we aren't shooting, we aren't spending a tenth as much money as if we were.

We must continue to wage the peace, he said. We must support such programs as the Mutual Security Act and we must have a continuing study of the program to keep it on the right track.

Eisenhower spoke against the background of a $1,109,000,000 cut by the House Foreign Affairs Committee in the administration's $4,900,000,000 foreign aid bill.

SOME LEGISLATORS, moreover, have been talking of stopping aid to Yugoslavia in view of the apparent reconciliation between Yugoslavia's Marshal Tito and the Russians.

Tito is visiting in Russia. As to that development, Eisenhower told a questioner he doesn't consider what he called the Tito incident entirely a loss.

Eisenhower asked why Tito had been received in Moscow with such elaborate acclaim and then answered his own question:

It was because of the success Tito had in defying the Soviet regime. To get him back the Russians had to make great concessions.

Eisenhower said this would cause the Russians to think seriously about relations with other satellites.

Still, Eisenhower said, there must be another look at American aid to Yugoslavia in the light of what serves our best interests.

The President drew away from taking sides in primary contests between Republicans. Eisenhower said he believes it is not the place of the President of the United States to intervene in primaries.

Also on the political front, Eisenhower declined to shed any light on whether he may campaign more vigorously this fall than he indicated in February. He said at that time he would do no barnstorming or whistle stop speaking, and would confine his efforts to mass communication approaches—that is, through news papers, television and radio.

A REPORTER told Eisenhower that last week he had remarked at a Citizens for Eisenhower rally that he would "campaign" as energetically and as enthusiastically as he could.

Eisenhower interrupted to deny that he had ever used the word "campaign." He said he had talked rather of carrying on his responsibilities cheerfully and energetically.

As for whether he may make more than the half dozen television speeches, which the Republican National Committee has indicated are on the schedule, the President said he has not discussed the matter with anyone.

Moonshiners Not Mechanized Yet

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP)—The moonshining business isn't altogether mechanized yet.

12 Years Ago, It Was D-Day

Omaha Beach Seeing Pilgrimages Today

OMAHA BEACH, France (AP)—Even to the French peasants who live nearby, this beach where the Allies landed 12 years ago today is known as Omaha.

Their pronunciation may be different, but they have learned the name from serious-faced visitors who have come in search of graves and from old soldiers seeking spots burned into their memory of D-Day.

Signs now direct visitors to points of interest along the landing areas. The signs are in French but two invasion names have stuck, Omaha and Utah, the Normandy beaches where the might of the Allies struck to drive back the forces of Nazi Germany.

Today's 12th anniversary of D-Day found residents and visitors again making the annual pilgrimage to the channel-washed strip of brown sand.

The sad gentle sound of taps played by military buglers was only the faintest echo of the fury of that day, when the West mustered a mighty air and sea armada to launch the invasion of Normandy.

TODAY'S military observances were largely confined to the cemeteries—French, British and Canadian—scattered along the coast.

The schedule called for the usual speeches, rifle salutes and sounding of taps before the visitors moved quietly through the ordered rows of graves or walked reflectively along the beaches.

Omaha shows almost no trace of the invasion. A rusted landing ship can be seen far down the beach. At low tide the broken skeletons of the harbor made of sunken ships poke through the channel waters. That's about all.

Future Prisoners May Earn Own Pay

ST. LOUIS (AP)—An expert on prisons says it will become common practice someday for prisoners to earn enough in the penitentiary to support their families at home.

Isaac Gurman, executive director of the St. Louis Bureau for Men, said wages may also be large enough to permit a prisoner to pay back to the state a reasonable amount for board and room and to build a savings toward the time when he is released.

In an address to the Missouri Assn. for Social Welfare, Gurman suggested legislation compelling state agencies to purchase goods made at Missouri penitentiaries.

No Tax Cut Due This Year

House Group Cool To Suggested Slash

WASHINGTON (AP) — Barring a marked business downturn, House tax writers today foresaw little prospect of voting a tax cut in the remaining days of this session.

Next year, they indicated, a general review of individual and business taxes may be in order.

Key members of the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee gave a cool reception to qualified recommendations made yesterday by the Committee for Economic Development for a tax cut of $2 billion or more effective next Jan. 1.

The CED, which describes itself as a nonprofit economic research organization, proposed general income tax relief, provided there is a substantial Treasury surplus for the coming fiscal year, starting July 1.

Rep. Mills (D-Ark.), a senior member of the Ways and Means Committee, said Congress "is not justified in reducing taxes just because we have a little surplus," and added:

"ANY GENERAL reduction ought to be predicated only on a related reduction in expenditures, or on a downturn in business that would justify a reduction in taxes."

Rep. Boggs (D-La.), another committee member, said he did "not see any tax action this year."

Next year "is the way I see it," he declared.

Rep. Byrnes (R-Wis.), also a committee member, said "it is premature to talk about tax reduction at this stage of the game" and "not sound policy to talk now about a cut in January."

WASHINGTON (AP) — A possible visit to Ohio by President Eisenhower next fall is expected to be one of the major topics for discussion today as Ray C. Blass, Republican state chairman from Ohio, opens a round of campaign conferences here.

Bliss was scheduled to meet this afternoon with Ohio's two Republican senators, John W. Bricker and George H. Bender, and Rep. Clarence J. Brown of Blanchester, GOP national committeeman. They will lay plans for a meeting in Columbus next Monday of Ohio delegates to the Republican National Convention in San Francisco next August.

Tonight Bliss will give a dinner party for Ohio GOP congressional nominees and GOP candidates for statewide offices. Campaign strategy will be discussed, Bliss says. Bliss told newsmen Tuesday he felt reasonably certain Eisenhower would "make at least one appearance in Ohio." He added that it would be a television appearance. Bliss said several cabinet members and other administration leaders also would visit Ohio during the campaign to urge reelection of Bender.

Before returning to Columbus Thursday night, Bliss plans to confer with Vice President Richard M. Nixon, GOP National Chairman Leonard Hall, Treasury Secretary George Humphrey and other administration leaders.

C of C Men Briefed On Hoover Report

Charles Reinke, president of the Chamber of Commerce, and William Stoughton, the manager, today were back from a meeting in Dayton Tuesday convinced that the people of this community not only should know all about the Hoover Commission Report and, still more important, let their senator and congressman know how they feel about it.

The meeting attended by Reinke and Stoughton was co-sponsored by the United States and Dayton Chambers of Commerce. It was held in the Biltmore Hotel following a noon luncheon.

The two Washington C. H. representatives came back with some very definite impressions, which they intend to pass along to the board of directors at an early meeting.

Among these was a statement by Gary Gange of California, the principal speaker, that if the Hoover Report should be adopted in its entirety, $3½ billion dollars could be cut from federal spending annually.

About half of the recommendations for government reorganization and reductions in spending could be effected by executive order, they said they were told, adding that congressional action would be required to put the others into effect.

Stoughton had noted on his program that the Defense Department alone spends $30,000,000 to prepare its budget.

Decision Reversed In Trailer Squabble

NEW PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The Fifth District Court of Appeals yesterday reversed a ruling by Common Pleas Judge Frank Cope which upheld refusal of the City of New Philadelphia to issue a trailer court permit to Otis G. Starkey of Ashland.

Starkey planned to establish the trailer court on property he owns. At the time of his permit request it was in an industrial zone. Adjacent home owners protested and the permit was denied.

The appellate court held that the city could have amended its zoning ordinance and outlawed trailer parks prior to Starkey's request but didn't. After Starkey instituted a mandamus suit, City Council changed the area involved from industrial to residential zone.

Mrs. Alf Butler, Route 3, Greenfield, was admitted to Memorial Hospital, Tuesday for surgery Wednesday morning.

Half Of Brain Removed; Girl No 'Brat' Now

CHICAGO (AP)—An operation has transformed a little girl from a "brat" to a cheerful child.

Doctors, in making the switch, removed half her brain.

Surgeons at Wesley Memorial Hospital said the unnamed 6-year-old blonde youngster had sleeping sickness at the age of 1. Her left side was affected by partial paralysis.

She became a "brat," mistreated others, shouted at her mother and destroyed toys. She suffered 10 to 12 convulsions each day. She was taken out of school because of her ugly behavior and taken to Wesley Hospital.

Medical investigators decided that half her brain was responsible for her behavior. Tests showed the right half of the brain and skull had failed to grow.

So, in a 4-hour, 35-minute operation May 14, the right half of the brain was removed. Generally, the right half of the brain controls the left side of the body.

Now, the doctors reported, the healthy side of the brain is taking over additional functions, and the child's senses are as acute as before the operation.

Partial paralysis still is apparent, they said, but improvement is expected with the passage of time. She has no more convulsions, they added, but does have a new personality, is cooperative, cheerful and of normal intelligence.

Cardinal Reported Arrested Again

ROME (AP)—The official organ of Italian Catholic Action reported today that Josef Cardinal Mindszenty, Roman Catholic primate of Hungary, again has been jailed by Hungarian Communists.

The newspaper, Il Quotidiano, expressed belief he was jailed because he had refused to sign a statement "recognizing progress made in recent years between the Hungarian state and the Roman Catholic Church."

A Hungarian court convicted Cardinal Mindszenty of treason in 1949 and sentenced him to life imprisonment. Last July 16 the Hungarian government announced he had been released.

Rotary Hears County Health Commissioner

Dr. B. V. Scott Tells Of Many Activities
Of The Department

If most Rotarians were not familiar with the activities of a County Health Department such as our own in Fayette County, they were certain to have become better informed after they listened to the interesting discussion presented at the Tuesday club luncheon at the Country Club.

The speaker was Dr. Benton V. D. Scott, Fayette County Health Commissioner, who acts in the same capacity for Ross County, Pike County and the separate department of the city of Chillicothe where he has his headquarters.

ANOTHER feature of this occasion was that all the dairy products used at this luncheon, including milk, cream, two kinds of cheese and ice cream were donated by Rotarian Ed Moser of the Med-O-Pure Dairy, by reason of this being a national observance of June Dairy Month. Ed has provided the program and furnished a good share of the food on this occasion for several years, even to providing the strawberries Tuesday to go with the ice cream.

During the business session preliminary to the main feature of the day's program, President Paul Dougherty announced the appointment of Howard D. Fogle and Harry Silcott as an auditing committee, appointed each year, to make an audit and give a later report of the club's finances and accounts.

Dr. Robert Woodmansee reported on a feature planned by his committee on community service activities, whereby seven families which included 24 children from nine to 17 years of age, had been selected to be given memberships to Washington Park, including use of swimming pool facilities.

Cost of this gesture in behalf of youth activities comes out of the club's youth fund.

Another announcement was that the club assembly dinner meeting to be held previous to the beginning of the new terms of officers for the year 1956-57, will be held at the St. Andrews Episcopal.

This meeting which will be attended by all committee chairmen, and other Rotarians who so desire, will make plans for the coming Rotary year activities beginning in July.

Ed Moser, acting as program chairman Tuesday, presented the featured speaker for the day and told of Dr. Scott's past service in public health work.

AT THE OUTSET, Dr. Scott made the declaration that some people opposed public health departments on the theory that they were promoting socialized medicine. But nothing was as far from the minds of public health officials as following such a policy, he said.

He took occasion to compliment the members of the Fayette County Health Board for what he called "sincerity of their cooperation in attempting to carry out the purposes of the public health movement."

In his opening remarks Dr.

Board and Room

By Gene Ahern

Scott said that although public health interest can be traced to antiquity, the modern conception of the vital part played by public began with the advent of the 20th century.

He declared that public health has been defined as the "art of science of prolonging life, preventing disease and promoting well being through organized community effort."

The speaker said that public health has followed the private practice of medicine in its effort to fulfill those three mentioned goals. Public health is dependent upon the scientific practice of medicine in any community.

DR. SCOTT outlined how it operates upon four levels: world-wide through world health organization nationally, through public health service and on the state-wide basis through departments such as the Ohio Department of Health. Finally its most important field of endeavor is on a local basis, where those working in public health have direct contact with the individual.

An interesting and informative point he made was that a local health department requires a population of 50,000 people for adequate support so that it may employ a full time health officer, one nurse, one sanitarian and one clerk. Local health departments are directly responsible to a locally appointed board of health. They are financed to a very small degree by federal funds and also to a minor degree by state funds; their basis support is derived from local tax monies. Being tax supported they are termed officially as agencies.

In touching on the local situation, the health commissioner stated "Your own Fayette County Health Department spends approximately 91 cents per capita per year for Public Health. The average per capita expenditure in Ohio is in the neighborhood of $1.35 per year, which is about that of the national average."

"There are seven functions to be fulfilled by a local health department," he said. "These are 1—Keeping of Vital Statistics; 2—Control of Communicable diseases; 3—Maternal and Child Health; 4—Environmental Sanitation; 5—Health Education; 6—Laboratory Services, and finally the control of chronic diseases."

IN DISCUSSING briefly two of these mentioned functions, first that of control of communicable diseases. He said, "This is done by immunization where possible, by contact investigation, and by epidemiology which is the detective work in medicine; it is the means by which the source of a disease can be located and identified."

"Environmental sanitation," he stated, is a most important field for work in public health. This category would include, inspection of water supplies, sewage disposal plants, restaurants, schools and finally milk supply. Since this is National Dairy Week, I would like to call attention to the excellent job the dairies throughout the country are doing to protect consumer health. Milk has long been known as the almost perfect food. It comes more nearly containing all the requirements for adequate nourishment than does any other food, because of this fact and also because milk is an ideal media for bacteria growth, it requires the utmost in careful supervision and handling."

In concluding, Dr. Scott remarked that "In my opinion the dairy industry in this country is making every possible effort to provide a quality product with the highest possible safety factor."

President Dougherty thanked Dr. Scott very cordially for his explanation of the functions of the health department and said that he was sure most Rotarians knew more about the county's public health importance and responsibilities.

Slaying Confession Being Repudiated

CINCINNATI (AP)—Attorney William F. Hopkins says that Robert Lyons has repudiated the statement that he killed Mrs. Audrey Evers Pugh, 34.

Mrs. Pugh, an attractive socialite, was stabbed to death in her home here April 11, and police said Lyons, a waterworks meter reader, admitted the slaying 10 days ago in a signed statement.

Hopkins conferred with Lyons for two hours yesterday in jail and then reported:

"We went over the case in detail. Here is what Lyons said: 'Whoever killed Mrs. Pugh is still at large. I did not do it.'"

When asked about Lyons' statement to police, Hopkins said, "We will try that out in the courtroom."

What is home without a mother? 'Tis like day without a sun; Joyless, cheerless, unforgetting Of the splendor that is gone; Every nook and every corner... Every room and every hall Bears the imprint of a presence That is gone beyond recall.

What is home without a mother? 'Tis like night without a star,— When the unrevealing darkness Correlates the brooding hour; When the silver cord is sundered And the ties of love are rent,— Home is like a starless heaven In the vaulted firmament.

What is home without a mother? 'Tis like a shattered vase With the fragrance of the flowers Clinging still, about the place; Not since Eden was created... Not since angels first took wing, Has this wonder earth envisioned Any fairer, sweeter thing.

Fifth Brother Goes into Navy

Larry W. Foster
Enters Service Now

When Larry Wendell Foster went to Columbus Wednesday morning for his navy physical, he was upholding a family tradition that is just about as well observed as Christmas dinner.

For Larry was the fifth boy in the Foster family to join the U. S. Navy.

Larry W. Foster

The sons of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Paul Foster, 711 Rawlings St. began serving Uncle Sam 10 years ago—m 1946—when big brother Robert, now 27, became a sailor. And there's been at least one Foster boy—often more—wearing the Navy uniform ever since.

In fact, when Larry puts on his uniform, for a few months at least this country will have the services of three Fosters at the very same time. Two of Larry's brothers are already in.

And, if Larry had only chosen to go in a week ago instead of today, there would have been four in uniform all at once. Elder Brother Max, 23, just got his discharge a few days ago.

charge a few days ago.

Here's the record of the Foster brothers and their careers with Uncle Sam, as set down by Mrs. Foster—who says she's real proud of the whole bunch:

Robert, 27, is still in the Navy after ten years—he's decided to make a career of it. Presently, he's a sonarman first class on a submarine at New London, Conn., working on electronics.

David, 24, served four years and is now making his home with his own young family in California.

Max, 23, just got out of the Navy last week.

Clark, 20, is presently stationed at Jacksonville, Fla., where he's serving as a Navy metalsmith.

And Larry, 19, is going in this week. He will train for nine weeks and then go on to special naval education training, under the Navy high school graduate program.

And what's more, younger brothers Raney, 17, and Aaron, 14, both students at Washington C. H. High School, say they'll enlist after they graduate. Brother Dewey, 22, says he plans to enlist in the fall.

And that ain't all; Luann Foster, the boy's 15 year old sister, says that after she graduates she just might go into the WAVES, the

Slaying Confession Being Repudiated

CINCINNATI (AP)—Attorney William F. Hopkins says that Robert Lyons has repudiated the statement that he killed Mrs. Audrey Evers Pugh, 34.

Mrs. Pugh, an attractive socialite, was stabbed to death in her home here April 11, and police said Lyons, a waterworks meter reader, admitted the slaying 10 days ago in a signed statement.

Hopkins conferred with Lyons for two hours yesterday in jail and then reported:

"We went over the case in detail. Here is what Lyons said: 'Whoever killed Mrs. Pugh is still at large. I did not do it.'"

When asked about Lyons' statement to police, Hopkins said, "We will try that out in the courtroom."

Poet's Corner

WHAT IS HOME WITHOUT A MOTHER?

What is home without a mother? It's like day without a sun; Joyless, cheerless, unforgetting Of the splendor that is gone; Every nook and every corner... Every room and every hall Bears the imprint of a presence That is gone beyond recall.

What is home without a mother? It's like night without a star— When the unrevealing darkness Correlates the brooding hour; When the silver cord is sundered And the ties of love are rent, — Home is like a starless heaven In the vaulted firmament.

What is home without a mother? It is like a shattered vase With the fragrance of the flowers Clinging still, about the place; Not since Eden was created... Not since angels first took wing Has this wonder earth envisioned Any fairer, sweeter thing.

Fifth Brother Goes into Navy

Larry W. Foster Enters Service Now

When Larry Wendell Foster went to Columbus Wednesday morning for his navy physical, he was upholding a family tradition that is just about as well observed as Christmas dinner.

For Larry was the fifth boy in the Foster family to join the U. S. Navy.

Larry W. Foster

The sons of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Paul Foster, 711 Rawlings St. began serving Uncle Sam 10 years ago—in 1946—when big brother Robert, now 27, became a sailor. And there's been at least one Foster boy—often more—wearing the Navy uniform ever since.

In fact, when Larry puts on his uniform, for a few months at least this country will have the services of three Fosters at the very same time. Two of Larry's brothers are already in.

And, if Larry had only chosen to go in a week ago instead of today, there would have been four in uniform all at once, Elder Brother Max, 23, just got his discharge a few days ago.

Here's the record of the Foster brothers and their careers with Uncle Sam, as set down by Mrs. Foster—who says she's real proud of the whole bunch:

Robert, 27, is still in the Navy after ten years—he's decided to make a career of it. Presently, he's a sonarman first class on a submarine at New London, Conn., working on electronics.

David, 24, served four years and is now making his home with his own young family in California.

Max, 23, just got out of the Navy last week.

Clark, 20, is presently stationed at Jacksonville, Fla., where he's serving as a Navy metalsmith.

And Larry, 19, is going in this week. He will train for nine weeks and then go on to special naval education training under the Navy high school graduate program.

And what's more, younger brothers Raney, 17, and Aaron, 14, both students at Washington C. H. High School, say they'll enlist after they graduate. Brother Dewey, 22, says he plans to enlist in the fall.

And that ain't all: Luann Foster, the boy's 15 year old sister, says that after she graduates she just might go into the WAVES, the Navy's feminine counterpart.

If this all worked out as planned, it would give a total of eight Fosters to the seagoing services.

For the sake of the record, let it be written that 26-year-old Dee Foster did his service time in the Air Force.

Prospects For Today's Youth Are Unlimited

In recent days, high schools throughout Fayette County and in this general area have graduated hundreds of students many of whom are preparing to enter college this coming fall.

Others are going into various branches of military service, many into private employment; quite a number of the girls graduating at this time will get married before the end of the year.

The high school graduates of 1956, also the college graduates of this year, are completing school work at a time when this country is at its peak and is recognized as the most powerful nation on the face of the earth.

Today's young people who are leaving high schools and colleges are graduating into the life of a nation which is still booming and is still operating under the free enterprise system. We are blessed in our country with still maintaining freedom of religion, freedom of press and freedom of expression. It is a great age for the modern graduate and opportunities are unlimited.

Until World War II, Great Britain was probably the world's dominant power. This was true because Great Britain had tremendous colonial assets, the greatest navy in the world and had—in World War I—played a more prominent role than had the United States. So had France.

In World War II, however, the tremendous might of the United States was demonstrated to all the world and this nation was unquestionably a decisive influence.

It has been said that the prospect of tomorrow is cast in superlatives—and so it is. Never has youth been able to look ahead to so much. Only the background shadow of war's threat mars part of the bright horizon.

During the next few decades, the men in government of America—and their counterparts in other lands—must avoid decision and blunders that lead to the upheavals all dread. If they do—the tomorrows of today's young people will indeed be bright.

Certainly this is an exciting and challenging age for the individual with reasonable intelligence, energy, imagination and even a taste for adventure. Even for those who shrink from the bold, exacting tasks, the routine toil of tomorrow will have less drudgery in it.

Because there is still unrest and threats in the world, today's graduate, more than any who have gone before, must take an active part in the political life of our nation—and of our nation, state, county and city. They must learn to make sane, steady appraisals of issues and of men.

Life Is Full Of Mysteries

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—Life is full of mysteries, and it puzzles me—

Why so many horse players insist they are ahead of the game when they really aren't.

Why, when people get a lot of money, they worry more about it than when they had little or none.

Why brides who insist on a double ring wedding ceremony don't also give their fiances engagement rings.

Why a child would rather play in a mud puddle than in a schoolyard full of swings and slides.

How a young spider can learn to spin a beautiful web without once being spanked by its parents.

How a wife will refuse to ride in an airplane by herself, but is glad to make the trip if her husband goes along.

Where city pigeons go to die. You rarely see a dead one in the streets.

Why doctors get more business from women, but undertakers get more from men.

Why a girl in a Bikini swim suit doesn't feel properly dressed without fresh toenail polish.

Where the expression arose "It's raining cats and dogs."

Anybody ever really see this happen?

How a motorcycle owner is always able to find a pretty girl to ride on the rear seat.

It's All In The Point Of View

By George Sokolsky

I got to talking to a window washer—you know, a fellow who stands on a window ledge a dozen or two stories above the street, hooked on to a leather strap, washing windows, hopping from window ledge to window ledge, and causing a sensitive person to look away for fear that he might drop.

This was a rather good-looking fellow who somehow made one feel that he ought to be in an office. I asked a girl in my office why she thought he risked his life washing windows and she was sure it was for the pay. But how much pay could he get? I doubted whether he was paid as much as the young lady.

So we finally got the story. The fellow had been in the Marines. And he went to college and learned some kind of stuff under the G. I. Bill of Rights which required him to work indoors, at a desk, in an office. It made him nervous.

He could not eat. He could not sleep. He smoked too much. He became a nervous wreck. Inside work was not for an ex-Marine.

So he got a job as a window washer and he lost all his nervousness. He can stand on a ledge, 20 stories or more above the sidewalk, washing a window and he feels fine.

He now eats well. He sleeps well. Everything is O. K.

So it only goes to show what is one man's meat is another man's poison and that nobody can set up rules that hold for everybody. That is one of the troubles with the world today. Every government is trying to fit all its people into molds.

For instance, even in this country, we now have a propaganda to turn out more scientists and engineers and the college boys are being major and minor until they get not an education but a training which is a very different thing. That jockey, Bill Pearson, on "the $64,000 Question," seems to me to be an educated man, but I have met many important engineers and scientists and businessmen who are regarded as wonders in their fields but who know no history, no art, no philosophy, no music. In a word, they have lived long and prosperously but without education. They have college degrees but no culture.

Perhaps we need to become a nation of chess players to develop realistic, competent minds that can think beyond the advertiser's slogans to the components of a problem and the facts that challenge human conduct. In a word, here we face a coldly statistical fact that two nations, Soviet Russia and Red China, which were of slight significance a decade ago, now are strong enough to challenge our existence and we still live in a realm of rock-throw concepts. It is not only scientists and engineers that we need but men of independent thought and imaginative action. We need more educated men and women who can think for the doers.

Teachers and professors are very touchy people and they get very excited if one criticizes their little realms. But the question at issue is what has happened to that brilliant, initiating, competent, go-getting American mind that developed our great industrial base not by the routines of unimaginative, over-organized, apple-polishing management that concerns itself principally with security and seniority and fringe benefits, but that took chances and risks and built a private, personal fortune to be used at will and left after death to a family? There was ambition in that process and a tremendous excitement over life.

The window washer who left the fringe benefits of an office to stand on a ledge and wash windows because that is what he wants to do seems to me to be a smart man who is going what he chooses to do, for himself and for his own satisfaction. He will not die of ulcers or a nervous breakdown even if he never gets any fringe benefits. He has the courage of his convictions and risks his neck for them which he finds a more interesting life experience than shining his trousers on a swivel chair waiting for a pension.

And after the pension—what comes? Surely after retirement and a pension must either come another job of work or decay and death.

Diet and Health

Is Flying Ruled Out For Ailing Persons?

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN
Even though you are under a doctor's care, it may be perfectly all right for you to travel by air.

As a matter of fact, it's estimated that about 1,700,000 of the 34,500,000 passengers flown by regularly scheduled United States airlines in a single 12-month period suffered from some disease or disability.

Common Cold

The types of ailments ranged in severity from the common cold to advanced stages of cancer.

While there are some important exceptions—many of which we have discussed in an earlier column—the great majority of ambulatory patients can fly with no ill effects.

Many patients may find air travel the most convenient, comfortable and least fatiguing way to get about. This may be a determining factor when a patient is going somewhere for rest and convalescence.

Allergic and Sensitive

If you're allergic and sensitive to air-borne allergens, you'll probably find relief while flying because of the absence of excitants.

Patients in status asthmaticus probably had better not fly. However, flying usually is all right for those with mild asthma if they travel between attacks.

But occasionally an asthmatic may have an attack brought on by tension created by any kind of travel.

A word of caution is in order for patients with colostomies who plan to fly. During ascent you will find the colostomy bag tends to fill rapidly. Better be sure to empty it just before departure time.

Body Cavities

As a plane ascends, the gases in closed body cavities expand because of decreased atmospheric pressure.

The expansion of these gases may endanger anyone with appendicitis or deeply eroded peptic ulcers or some other serious weakness of the gastrointestinal wall.

In short, if you are in doubt, ask your doctor whether you can fly. And if he's not sure, or you can't locate him, check with the medical director of the airline you plan to use. He'll give you expert guidance.

3 Candidates Say Primary Costs Nothing

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Three candidates in the May 8 primary listed no contributions and no expenses in campaign reports filed Monday with the secretary of state's office.

Dem Platform Group Slated For Confab

CHICAGO (AP)—Democratic Chairman Paul Butler says the party's platform committee will convene a week before the 1956 national convention "to get substantial agreement on civil rights."

He says he is confident a civil rights plank acceptable to Northern and Southern Democrats will be drawn up during the pre-convention deliberations.

Democrats, Butler declared, "will not have any difficulty with the platform."

The drafting committee will meet Aug. 6, one week before the convention opens for business Aug. 13 in Chicago's International Amphitheatre.

Butler said it was "the first time in party history" that the platform committee would meet a full week before the convention opened.

Nomination of candidates, barring a fight over acceptance of the platform, will begin Wednesday morning, Aug. 15, with the first roll call scheduled later the same night, he said.

US Judges Rule Against Segregation

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—A three judge federal court panel in a 2-1 vote today ruled racial segregation unconstitutional on Montgomery city buses.

The panel ruled that both the city and state segregation laws requiring separate seating facilities for white and Negro passengers violate U. S. law.

The decision came on the sixth month anniversary of Montgomery's Negro bus boycott which started last Dec. 5 in protest against segregated seating facilities on city buses.

Diet and Health Is Flying Ruled Out For Ailing Persons?

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

Even though you are under a doctor's care, it may be perfectly all right for you to travel by air.

As a matter of fact, it's estimated that about 1,000,000 of the 34,500,000 passengers flown by regularly scheduled United States airlines in a single 12-month period suffered from some disease or disability.

Common Cold

The types of ailments ranged in severity from the common cold to advanced stages of cancer.

While there are some important exceptions—many of which we have discussed in an earlier column—the great majority of ambulatory patients can fly with no ill effects.

Many patients may find air travel the most convenient, comfortable and least fatiguing way to get about. This may be a determining factor when a patient is going somewhere for rest and convalescence.

Allergic and Sensitive

If you're allergic and sensitive to air-borne allergens, you'll probably find relief while flying because of the absence of excitants.

Patients in status asthmaticus probably had better not fly. However, flying usually is all right for those with mild asthma if they travel between attacks.

But occasionally an asthmatic may have an attack brought on by tension created by any kind of travel.

A word of caution is in order for patients with colostomies who plan to fly. During ascent you will find the colostomy bag tends to fill rapidly. Better be sure to empty it just before departure time.

Body Cavities

As a plane ascends, the gases in closed body cavities expand because of decreased atmospheric pressure.

The expansion of these gases may endanger anyone with appendicitis or deeply eroded peptic ulcers or some other serious weakness of the gastrointestinal wall.

In short, if you are in doubt, ask your doctor whether you can fly. And if he's not sure, or you can't locate him, check with the medical director of the airline you plan to use. He'll give you expert guidance.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

J. D.: What foods should one with hardening of the arteries avoid?

Answer: There is no on definite food which should be avoided.

However, it is believed by some authorities that the restriction of certain foods high in cholesterol or fat is of aid in preventing the progress of hardening of the arteries.

3 Candidates Say Primary Costs Nothing

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Three candidates in the May 8 primary listed no contributions and no expenses in campaign reports filed Monday with the secretary of state's office.

They are: Democratic Gov. Frank J. Lausche and Republican Sen. George H. Bender, unopposed for their party's senatorial nomination, and Secretary of State Ted W. Brown, unopposed for the Republican renomination.

Other campaign reports to the secretary of state that are required by Thursday included:

Stephen M. Young of Cleveland received $350 and spent $986 in his successful campaign for the Democratic nomination for attorney general.

Chalmers P. Wylie of Columbus spent $443 in an unsuccessful bid for the Republican nomination for attorney general. He said contributions went to his campaign committee that has yet to report. Wylie's Logan County committee received and spent $11.

J. Eugene Roberts of Hubbard, an opponent of Wylie in a four-man race, received $950 and spent $1,400.

William C. Kelly's Cincinnati committee seeking his nomination for lieutenant governor on the Republican ticket received $17,667, spent $17,042 and listed $2,458 in unpaid bills.

R. Edward Tepe of Norwood received nothing and spent $253 in his unsuccessful drive for the Democratic nomination for lieutenant governor. His campaign committee received and spent $1,998.

Joseph T. Ferguson of Columbus, unopposed for the Democratic nomination for state auditor, received nothing and spent $253.

Dem Platform Group Slated For Confab

CHICAGO (AP)—Democratic Chairman Paul Butler says the party's platform committee will convene a week before the 1956 national convention "to get substantial agreement on civil rights."

He says he is confident a civil rights plank acceptable to Northern and Southern Democrats will be drawn up during the pre-convention deliberations.

Democrats, Butler declared, "will not have any difficulty with the platform."

The drafting committee will meet Aug. 6, one week before the convention opens for business Aug. 13 in Chicago's International Amphitheatre.

Butler said it was "the first time in party history" that the platform committee would meet a full week before the convention opened.

Nomination of candidates, barring a fight over acceptance of the platform, will begin Wednesday morning, Aug. 15, with the first roll call scheduled later the same night, he said.

US Judges Rule Against Segregation

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—A three judge federal court panel in a 2-1 vote today ruled racial segregation unconstitutional on Montgomery city buses.

The panel ruled that both the city and state segregation laws requiring separate seating facilities for white and Negro passengers violate U. S. law.

The decision came on the sixth month anniversary of Montgomery's Negro bus boycott which started last Dec. 5 in protest against segregated seating facilities on city buses.

Latest Political Nonsense Eyed By 'Uniquack'

Statements By Ike, Adlai Labeled As Hokum By 'Invention'

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Society for the Exposure of Political Nonsense has come up with a gadget it calls "Uniquack," an electronic truth detector.

The SEPN, as well as "Uniquack," are tongue-in-cheek creations of James (Scotty) Reston, chief Washington correspondent for the New York Times.

Last week, Reston, a Pulitzer Prize winning reporter, took a look at two political statements, one by a Republican, the other by a Democrat. They were:

By President Eisenhower: "Certainly the prestige of the United States since the last world war has never been as high as it is this day."

By Adlai Stevenson: "The single most important fact this spring is the proof, demonstrated in one outpouring of Democratic votes after another, that there is a Democratic tide running in the country this year."

Reston reports that after these remarks were checked to be sure they actually had been said, the SEPN ran the statements through Uniquack.

For the uninitiated, the primary purpose of SEPN is to ferret out the hokum and silliness in the 1956 presidential campaign.

Reston's report on Uniquack's reaction to the Eisenhower-Stevenson statements follows:

Uniquack, the greatest invention since pretty girls, is a remarkable device which looks like a cross between a juke box and a slot machine. Hitched to a television set, it automatically makes the screen glow pink whenever a politico gets off some palpable fib. When adapted to the printed word, it not only pronounces political statements to be "true" or "false" but actually gives the truth in fairly understandable English.

The President's statement that U. S. prestige was higher today than at any time since 1945 was fed into the machine first. The instrument quivered, giggled slightly, and produced the following:

"False. The President was talking out the cuff and got carried away by the sound of Republican cheers. He is an optimistic man and a cheerleader at heart, and when he gets in front of a political audience, he forgets that his audience is the world."

"America's prestige is not rising but falling, and if you don't believe it, look around. The British are cutting their armed forces against our will. Marshal Tito is in Moscow. Even the French are criticizing us."

"Nasser of Egypt has just defied the Administration and recognized Communist China. The leaders of Pakistan are soon going to Peiping. We created Israel and the Chinese Nationalist bastion on Formosa, and how do you think our prestige is there?"

"Meanwhile, Adenauer, who never used to move without the approval of Washington, is flirting with the Communist regime in East Germany. He used to count on American prestige to bring about the reunification of Germany; now he's counting more and more on his own."

"Also, see Japan, and take a look at our embassies in Europe. Luce is home from Rome sick, and will probably resign in the fall. Dillon is home from Paris and is talking about going into New Jersey politics. Conant in Germany is nearing retirement, and you can check for yourself on the 'prestige' of Aldrich in London."

The secretary of the SEPN then picked up Stevenson's statement and fed it into a slot near the top on the left-hand side. The statement read:

"The single most important fact of the primary elections this spring is the proof, demonstrated in one outpouring of Democratic votes after another, that there is a Democratic tide running in the country this year."

Uniquack lit up like a pin-ball machine, let off a roar of laughter, and produced the following:

"False. Mr. Stevenson is a tired man. The only outpouring that has taken place this spring in the elections has been an outpouring of unutterable nonsense."

"There has been no outpouring of Democratic votes anywhere, in New Hampshire, Minnesota, Illinois, Oregon, or Florida. The people see through the whole thing, and have had the good judgment to stay home."

"There has been no Democratic tide, no Democratic ground swell, only a trickle of the faithful. The single most important fact of the primary elections this spring is that the politicians, who were supposed to be put in their place by the primary system, have learned how to manipulate it and have taken it over."

Thus informed, the members of the society disbanded for the day, but not before voting to redouble their efforts in the coming months. Before leaving they tried a statement by James C. Hagerty on the machine. This predicted that the campaign "is going to be rough, it's going to be dirty and it's going to be tough."

Uniquack: "True. And silly, too."

Lausche Hoping For Portion Of N-S Turnpike

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. Frank J. Lausche says he hopes bond money might be available to finance some segment of a proposed second Ohio turnpike route.

Gov. Lausche said Tuesday the decision of investment houses that the entire north-south turnpike project could not be financed on reasonable terms was disappointing but understandable under the present bond market conditions.

"My hopes," he said, "are that out of turnpike bond money we will be able to build at least either that part of the highway running from Cincinnati to U. S. 40 or that segment running from Pennsylvania to Ohio Turnpike No. 1."

Blythe & Co., Inc., of New York, recommended postponing construction of a Cincinnati to Cincinnati toll road.

The recommendation was disclosed Tuesday at a meeting of the Ohio Turnpike Commission.

FLUSHED OUT of a four-mile area of Michigan surrounded by more than 100 state police and Flint and Saginaw officers by Trooper (inset), 2-year-old trained police dog, Albert Karpuk, 18, is held by unidentified policeman. Karpuk is one of four armed men hunted for questioning in the robbery of a Saginaw gas station. A second also was captured. (International Soundphotos) said Dobler, a fork-lift operator at Sears, Roebuck & Co., has admitted 'lifting' about $6,000 worth of things there since 1949.

Sgt. Hahn said the stolen goods included a furnace, a 30-gallon water heater, a 300-gallon septic tank, an electric range, copper tubing, soil pipe, fire brick, wall cabinets and 42 bundles of asphalt shingles.

Sgt. Hahn said Dobler recently finished a new house and he took a power mower home Monday.

Dobler was charged with theft of the $59 mower.

Highway Patrol Positions Open

Training School Slated For July

Qualified men are still needed for the 47th Ohio state Highway Patrol training school scheduled to start late in July. Cpl. B. W. Frye, commanding officer of the Wilmington post, said today.

The July school is the third this year in a continuous training program to bring the patrol to its authorized strength of 700 men, plus those assigned to Ohio Turnpike duty. Approximately 100 new patrolmen are needed.

Cpl. Frye said Captain J. L. Hanley, head of the training school, has authorized the immediate processing of qualified applicants so that they may be eligible for the July school. However, those who apply after the complement is filled will be considered for later training sessions. The school is located south of Columbus in Franklin County.

PARTICULARLY urged to investigate opportunities offered in the patrol are recently discharged veterans and college students who have reached the age of 21 and who do not intend to continue their studies. "These groups in the past have proved to be highly successful in meeting the patrol's rigid requirements and have done well in the training school," Cpl. Frye said.

Basic requirements for new patrolmen include a minimum height of 5 feet 8 inches, and weight of at least 165 pounds; 21 to 35 years of age; high school graduate or equivalent; U. S. citizen; resident of Ohio, top physical condition and good moral character. The applicant may be either married or single.

Those appointed to the training school will receive $176 per month plus maintenance during the 14-week course. Graduates receive immediate appointments to the rank of patrolman at the starting salary of $315 and annual pay increases.

Cpl. Frye stressed the necessity of immediate action for those interested in joining the Patrol since each applicant must be thoroughly investigated and pass physical and aptitude tests as well as a screening board before he is accepted. No knowledge of police work is required.

Applications may be made in person at the Wilmington post, or at any patrol post in the state.

Grandmother, 71, Due To Face Trial

CLEVELAND (AP)—Seven years ago, a 64-year-old grandmother confessed she had choked 4-year-old Robert Shaw because she had "an urge to kill."

Tuesday, Mrs. Tillie Maschner, now 71, was declared "restored to reason" by Dr. R. E. Bushong, superintendent of the Lima State Hospital.

Judge Joseph H. Silbert ordered preliminaries for her trial on first-degree murder charges. The preliminaries include examination by court psychiatrists.

If they agree with Dr. Bushong that she is now sane, Silbert will order her to stand trial.

THESE I HAVE LOVED

The beauty of a high ridge . . .
Against an autumn sky:
The witchment of the orchard bloom

Outspread before the eye:
The little tides of Biscayne
A lapping on the shore:
The rhythm of a horse's foot
/ long, white road before

The sunlight on a gray head
A basking in the sun:
The comfort of the heart-side
When the day is done:
The cozen of a soft cheek
Pressed against my own:
The grace of a sweet smile
Meant for me alone

The wonder of the hush hours
When all the world's asleep:
My mother's thumb-worn Bible
A rose I faint would keep:
A heart that bled with sorrow
A child with hungry eyes:
These things I have loved
These things I prize.

"America's prestige is not rising but falling, and if you don't believe it, look around. The British are cutting their armed forces against our will. Marshal Tito is in Moscow. Even the French are criticizing us.

"Nasser of Egypt has just defied the Administration and recognized Communist China. The leaders of Pakistan are soon going to Peiping. We created Israel and the Chinese Nationalist bastion on Formosa, and how do you think our prestige is there?

"Meanwhile, Adenauer, who never used to move without the approval of Washington, is flirting with the Communist regime in East Germany. He used to count on American prestige to bring about the reunification of Germany; now he's counting more and more on his own.

"Also, see Japan, and take a look at our embassies in Europe. Luce is home from Rome sick, and will probably resign in the fall. Dillon is home from Paris and is talking about going into New Jersey politics. Conant in Germany is nearing retirement, and you can check for yourself on the 'prestige' of Aldrich in London."

The secretary of the SEPN then picked up Stevenson's statement and fed it into a slot near the top on the left-hand side. The statement read:

"The single most important fact of the primary elections this spring is the proof, demonstrated in one outpouring of Democratic votes after another, that there is a Democratic tide running in the country this year."

Uniquack lit up like a pin-ball machine, let off a roar of laughter, and produced the following: "False. Mr. Stevenson is a tired man. The only outpouring that has taken place this spring in the elections has been an outpouring of unutterable nonsense.

"There has been no outpouring of Democratic votes anywhere, in New Hampshire, Minnesota, Illinois, Oregon, or Florida. The people see through the whole thing, and have had the good judgment to stay home.

"There has been no Democratic tide, no Democratic ground swell, only a trickle of the faithful. The single most important fact of the primary elections this spring is that the politicians, who were supposed to be put in their place by the primary system, have learned how to manipulate it and have taken it over."

Thus informed, the members of the society disbanded for the day, but not before voting to redouble their efforts in the coming months. Before leaving they tried a statement by James C. Hagerty on the machine. This predicted that the campaign "is going to be rough, it's going to be dirty and it's going to be tough."

Uniquack: "True. And silly, too."

Lausche Hoping For Portion Of N-S Turnpike

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. Frank J. Lausche says he hopes bond money might be available to finance some segment of a proposed second Ohio turnpike route.

Gov. Lausche said Tuesday the decision of investment houses that the entire north-south turnpike project could not be financed on reasonable terms was disappointing but understandable under the present bond market conditions.

"My hopes," he said, "are that out of turnpike bond money we will be able to build at least either that part of the highway running from Cincinnati to U. S. 40 or that segment running from Pennsylvania to Ohio Turnpike No. 1."

Blythe & Co., Inc., of New York, recommended postponing construction of a Cincinnati to Cincinnati toll road.

The recommendation was disclosed Tuesday at a meeting of the Ohio Turnpike Commission.

Police Say Man Lifted Too Much
ST. LOUIS (AP) — It was Kenneth Dobler's job to lift things at the warehouse.

Detentive Sgt. Emmett Hahn

FLUSHED OUT of a four-mile area of Michigan surrounded by more than 100 state police and Flint and Saginaw officers by Trooper (inset), 2-year-old trained police dog, Albert Karpuk, 18, is held by unidentified policeman. Karpuk is one of four armed men hunted for questioning in the robbery of a Saginaw gas station. A second also was captured. (International Soundphotos)

said Dobler, a fork-lift operator at Sears, Roebuck & Co., has admitted "lifting" about $6,000 worth of things there since 1949.

Sgt. Hahn said the stolen goods included a furnace, a 30-gallon water heater, a 300-gallon septic tank, an electric range, copper tubing, soil pipe, fire brick, wall cabinets and 42 bundles of asphalt shingles.

Sgt. Hahn said Dobler recently finished a new house and he took a power mower home Monday. Dobler was charged with theft of the $39 mower.

Highway Patrol Positions Open

Training School Slated For July

Qualified men are still needed for the 47th Ohio state Highway Patrol training school scheduled to start late in July. Cpl. B. W. Frye, commanding officer of the Wilmington post, said today.

The July school is the third this year in a continuous training program to bring the patrol to its authorized strength of 700 men, plus those assigned to Ohio Turnpike duty. Approximately 100 new patrolmen are needed.

Cpl. Frye said Captain J. L. Hanley, head of the training school, has authorized the immediate processing of qualified applicants so that they may be eligible for the July school. However, those who apply after the complement is filled will be considered for later training sessions. The school is located south of Columbus in Franklin County.

PARTICULARLY urged to investigate opportunities offered in the patrol are recently discharged veterans and college students who have reached the age of 21 and who do not intend to continue their studies. "These groups in the past have proved to be highly successful in meeting the patrol's rigid requirements and have done well in the training school," Cpl. Frye said.

Basic requirements for new patrolmen include a minimum height of 5 feet 8 inches, and weight of at least 165 pounds; 21 to 35 years of age; high school graduate or equivalent; U. S. citizen; resident of Ohio, top physical condition and good moral character. The applicant may be either married or single.

Those appointed to the training school will receive $176 per month plus maintenance during the 14-week course. Graduates receive immediate appointments to the rank of patrolman at the starting salary of $315 and annual pay increases.

Cpl. Frye stressed the necessity of immediate action for those interested in joining the Patrol since each applicant must be thoroughly investigated and pass physical and aptitude tests as well as a screening, board before he is accepted. No knowledge of police work is required.

Applications may be made in person at the Wilmington post, or at any patrol post in the state.

Grandmother, 71, Due To Face Trial

CLEVELAND (AP) — Seven years ago, a 64-year-old grandmother confessed she had choked 4-year-old Robert Shaw because she had "an urge to kill."

Tuesday, Mrs. Tillie Maschmeier, now 71, was declared "re-stored to reason" by Dr. R. E. Bushong, superintendent of the Lima State Hospital.

Judge Joseph H. Silbert ordered preliminaries for her trial on first-degree murder charges. The preliminaries include examination by court psychiatrists.

If they agree with Dr. Bushong that she is now sane, Silbert will order her to stand trial.

THESE I HAVE LOVED

The beauty of a high ridge
Against an autumn sky;
The witchment of the orchard bloom
Outspread before the eye;
The little tides of Biscayne
A lapping on the shore;
The rhythm of a horse's foot
/ long, white road before

The sunlight on a gray lead
A basking in the sun;
The comfort of the heart-side
When the day is done;
The cozen of a soft cheek
Pressed against my own;
The grace of a sweet smile
Meant for me alone.

The wonder of the hush hours
When all the world's asleep;
My mother's thumb-worn Bible
A rose I fain would keep;
A heart that bled with sorrow
A child with hungry eyes;
These things I have loved
These things I prize.

Junior DAR Enjoys Tour Of Emmetts House

Nine members of the Martha Washington Committee of the D. A. R. motored to Mt. Vernon for their regular meeting.

The members enjoyed luncheon at the Alveo, at one o'clock and later, Mr. W. O. Wintermute, Curator of the Daniel Emmetts home, took them on a guided tour of the "Emmett House."

Daniel Emmetts was born in this house in Mt. Vernon and died and is buried in the same town.

Mr. Emmetts was the dean or founder of the minstrel as we know it today. He was famous on Broadway and when a very old man, opened the Al 9-Fields Minstrel Shows.

Although he was very famous on the stage, he will be remembered by future generations more for the music that he wrote.

Many songs we attribute to Folk Songs were written by Dan Emmetts and include "Old Dan Tucker," and "Turkey In The Straw." His most famous song was "Dixie," which became the marching song for the south during the war between the states.

Mr. Emmetts did not write it for the south but only as a peppy marching tune to bring on a dancing chorus.

The south adopted it as their own and Daniel Emmetts' birthday is commemorated there and he is more honored there than in the north.

He was neither a abolitionist nor a sympathizer with the south, he just wanted to write songs and sing and dance on the stage.

Members enjoying the tour were: Mrs. Dean Powell, Mrs. Harold Slagle, Mrs. Ervin P. Miller, Mrs. Ronald Cornwell, Mrs. John Leland, Mrs. Harold Hyer, Mrs. John D. Forsythe, Mrs. Robert Hagler and Mrs. Willard Bitzer.

Mrs. Meriweather Is Hostess To Church Society

Mrs. Carl Meriweather was hostess for the annual luncheon of the Christian Women's Fellowship of the Church of Christ on Tuesday.

Roses predominated in the decorations throughout the home and also on the tables seating the group for the delightful luncheon hour.

The program, in charge of Mrs. Melbourne Flee, assisted by Mrs. Laverne Morgan was under the topic "Unity," with several articles read on the subject which had to do with missionary work.

Mrs. Meriweather was assisted in the hospitalities by her daughters, Ann and Jane and Miss Margaret Gibson.

Many Soviet Contradictions Play Role In New Tensions

Editor's Note: Following is the second in a series of four articles evaluating the current Cold War in the light of new economic maneuvers by the Soviet Union.

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Foreign News Analyst

The Soviet Union has H-bombs and a frightfully bad system of highways. It has super-jet planes and lags 25 years behind the United States in automotive production.

Russians pioneered soil study, and Soviet agriculture is in turmoil.

Russia produced topnotch scientists for two centuries, but the U.S.S.R. has a shortage of educated people.

The Soviet Union has a vast population and a shortage of manpower.

These contradictions are important as the Soviet Union and the United States enter a long economic-political contest in which communism hopes to pave the way to world domination.

Brilliant Soviet advances in modern techniques make up only half the picture. The other half keeps Soviet leaders on the edge of fear. The great basic contradiction is that even with great strength, the Soviet Union is weak and global war is unthinkable.

Russia, for example, has modern jet transports in operation. It can produce such things because it can assign top priorities in peacetime by edict and concentrate manpower, materials and capital. But at the same time it is neglecting sectors in which the West goes steadily forward.

The Soviet Union has awesome armed strength. It has no shortage of brains and materials for heavy industry, which produces for war. The Soviet block and China can present the lure of a vast market for free world nations hungry for trade. The Communist fifth column is in a position to capitalize on the postwar avalanche of nationalism and western identification with colonialism.

But the Soviet Union also is weak. Staggering problems stand in the way of the Soviet global program.

The glaring weakness is the consumer economy. The Soviet consumer, cheated first by Stalin's hunger for industrial power and then by the war effort, is being put off again by the new long-term drive for economic supremacy.

It will take years for the Russians to begin coping with the extreme shortage of housing alone. Urban population increases faster than the regime wants to cope with it. Materials and labor for housing are short because of the vast appetite of heavy industry.

Agriculture remains another weakness. The supply of trains for a growing urban population is less than in 1938. Farmers are ordered to increase their gross output 70 per cent by 1960, to double production of meat and milk. Vegetables—even the staple potato—are in short supply.

More manpower—from the armed forces if necessary—must be thrown into agriculture if the Russians hope to make their domestic economy strong enough to compete effectively for influence abroad.

The regime is not thinking primarily of its consumer population. In Premier Bulganin's words increased production will step up "exports to friendly countries"— that is, be in a better position to compete with the West.

Strategic planning by Soviet calculation will involve at least 10 years in which industries must be more economically distributed with relation to raw materials and transport problems. There are serious lags in coal production. Bureaucracy prevents the most economical use of oil resources.

The state of Soviet transport would be a serious menace in wartime. There are great strains on the inadequate rail system which carried 87 per cent of Soviet domestic transport in 1955. The problem of automotive transport is acute. There is an acute shortage of tires. There is pressing need for good roads.

Technology and education despite advertised Soviet advances, show sharp failures. Educated youth are little inclined to make homes in remote and uncomfortable areas. Only half the workers in Soviet industry have had more than four years' schooling. Specialists are trained under bureaucratic control of ministries, trusts and factories.

On the political front, de-Stalinization is a certain weakness. It seems to be a lollipop for the Soviet people, once again ordered to wait for the consumer goods they long for. Stalin gets the blame for all that is wrong in the U.S.S.R.

While the needs of Red China and the attempt to compete for world favor through exports continue to be a drain on the Soviet economy, the consumer must wait. But revolutionary communism is not the force it once was in Russia. The Soviet structure is changing. The people have demon-

Air 'Workhorse' To Appear Soon

Four-Engine Plane With More Capacity

FT. WORTH, Tex.—The old, familiar DC-3, workhorse of the air ways, may be getting another successor.

Now being carried rapidly to the production stage by Jack Frye, president and chairman of the Frye corporation, the new four-engine plane is designed with a greater cargo and passenger capacity than the twin-engine DC-3, but with the ability to get into and out of much smaller airports than is possible for the older ship.

Frye expects the prototype to take to the air late this year and production to begin in 1957. It will be manufactured not only in the United States, but overseas as well, where characteristics like those designed into the F-1 may make it very popular.

IN APPEARANCE, the Frye plane will differ radically from the DC-3. The obvious differences in addition to the number of engines will be non-retractable landing gear, a clamshell nose and a cockpit atop the fuselage, thus providing passengers with a forward view from their compartment.

The light wing loading factor that has been designed into the plane is what will enable it to operate from exceptionally small fields. Although it will be able to carry 50 to 60 passengers, the F-1, will take off and land at a speed of only 55 miles an hour and require only 1,000 feet to become airborne.

Four 600-horsepower reciprocating engines will power the prototype, but the design also permits use of four 850-horsepower turbotrated they can be impatient. Their pressure will be felt more and more in the Kremlin in the next 10 years.

prop engines, which would increase the cruising speed by about 20 miles an hour.

Normal cruising speed was expected to be 250 miles an hour, but wind tunnel tests have indicated that this speed might be increased by as much as 15 miles an hour.

ECONOMY, both in operation and in original cost, is a principal objective of Frye. He said that "paper flights" over the routes of established feeder lines show that the F-1 will operate over such routes at much less cost than existing equipment.

In addition, reduction of replacement costs is anticipated since Frye says, "all major structures should operate without replacement for at least 15 years and 50,000 hours in the air."

Compared with the present market cost of $600,000 for a 10-year old DC-4 or $90,000 to $135,000 for a used DC-3, it is hoped that the F-1 can be sold for $350,000. Already commitments for 16 planes have been received.

To achieve this, Frye explains

Extreme attention is being given to simplicity of design, structures layouts and installations to achieve low cost in manufacturing and operation.

THE COMPANY, which plans to turn over actual manufacture of the new plane to a company presently engaged in such operations, has assembled a group of men with a broad background of aviation know-how.

Frye himself formerly was president of Trans World Airlines. His staff includes such men as Kurt Weill, creator of the widely-known Junkers JU-52; retired Navy Capt. D. W. Tomlinson IV, once vice president in charge of engineering for TWA and deputy commander of the Berlin airlift; and Joe H. Talley, formerly a designer with Douglas Aircraft who worked on the DC series.

Coal Industry Finds New Life In Own Region

Ohio River Area's Industrial Buildup Helping Fuel Miners

By SAM DAWSON
PITTSBURGH (AP)—The once ailing American coal industry first hit the comeback trail by meeting the needs of western Europe. But today it is finding a new lease on life in its own back yard.

All along the Ohio River, starting here and running to the Mississippi, new industrial plants are rising at costs totaling billions of dollars. Almost all are big users of coal or of the electric output fueled by coal.

Estimates of the amount of coal to be used this year have been raised several times since January. Coalmen now talk of a total production of 500 million tons, compared with 450 million last year, and nearly 400 million in 1954. They acknowledge, however, that second half 1956 output will probably be less than the first half, due to a probable let down in industrial activity as well as to seasonal factors in their own industry, such as vacations, and hot weather doldrums.

The revival in coal started last year in the big demand of European industry for American coal. The coal exporters' assn. of the United States says that overseas exports of American coal last year was around 35 million tons, more than double the 1954 volume.

Domestic use is rising this year—sparked by the capacity output of the steel industry, the growing use of coal by the expanding electric power utilities, and by the fast industrial pace in general.

A spokesman for Pittsburgh Consolidation Coal says the only big shadow over the coal industry at the moment is the threat of a steel strike. It would choke off one of coal's biggest customers, and in time many industries that depend on steel mills for their materials. A strike lasting a month would hit the coal industry seriously.

But barring that, coalmen see good times ahead for them in this Ohio Valley, enjoying a big industrial boom.

The Federal Reserve bank of Cleveland points out the trend to "move the coal consuming plant to the coal."

"Electric power companies are building new generating facilities practically on top of the coal beds," it says in its business review.

"New power stations are popping up all along the upper Ohio. The aluminum and chemical industries have joined the trek to coal along the upper Ohio, also."

The Atomic Energy Commission chose Portsmouth, Ohio, as the site of its huge atomic energy plant partly because of the nearby coal to supply its electrical needs.

Another lure for companies to build new plants along the Ohio is the cheap transportation afforded by Ohio River barges. Ohio Valley enthusiasts also stress the abundance of water supplies and the many available plant sites.

In Washington, defense planners smile on the projects, since they mean a dispersal of industries once concentrated in the older industrial centers, a goal of the military in planning for possible air attack.

Communities along the river are trying to finance new roads, schools and other public facilities to meet the needs of the new workers. They are also talking of enlarging the locks on the river so larger barges can operate efficiently.

Some of the new plants are in the building stage. Among those already completed are: Allied Chemical & Dye's Solvay process division 12 million dollar plant at Moundsville, W. Va., and its national aniline division five million dollar plant at Moundsville.

Mobay Chemical's eight million dollar plant at New Martinsville, W. Va.

In the various stages of construction are:

Aluminum Co. of America's 50,000 ton smelter at Evansville, Ind. Kaiser Aluminum's 216 million dollar plant at Ravenswood, W. Va.

A three-way 250 million dollar project at Cresap, W. Va., and Clarington, Ohio, for Olin Mathieson's aluminum plant, to be powered by American Gas & Electric's plant, fueled by Pittsburgh Consolidation Coal's new mine near Cresap.

In the authorized stage are: Vanadium Corp. of America's ferro alloys plant at Dillonvale, Ohio, and the Ohio Power Co. 125 million dollar plant at Clarington, Ohio.

Ancient Seaport City Uncovered

DAMASCUS (AP)—A Syrian archaeologist today reported the discovery of the 4,000-year-old seaport city of Semira which had eluded excavation teams of four nations for a century.

Dr. Salim Abdel Abdulhak, head of the Syrian Archeological Department, predicted the discovery in northern Syria would attract worldwide interest.

He called Semira a "treasure mine of Phoenician, Aramean, Assyrian and other ancient history."

California Cops Ban Rock And Roll

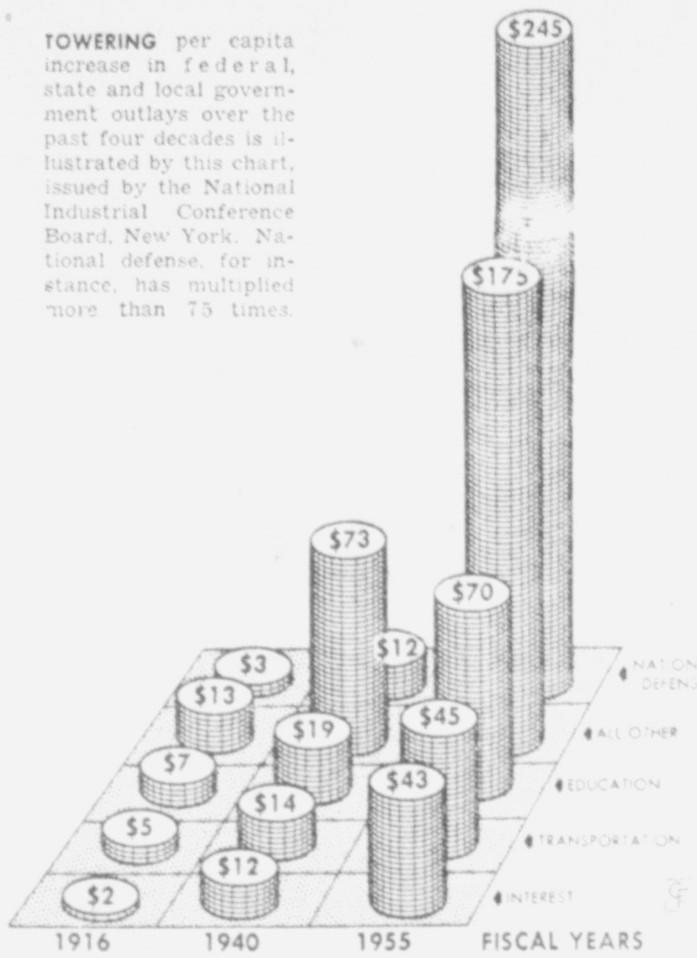

SANTA CRUZ, Calif. (AP)—Rock and roll for public dancing is out in Santa Cruz—by police order.

They say its heavy, pounding beat leads its fans to "highly suggestive, stimulating and tantalizing motions."

Police Lt. Richard Overton explained that he closed a week-end dance at Civic Auditorium because the music "drove to abandon" too many of the 200 teen-agers there.

Government Cost Up, Up, Up

TOWERING per capita increase in federal, state and local government outlays over the past four decades is illustrated by this chart, issued by the National Industrial Conference Board, New York. National defense, for instance, has multiplied more than 75 times.

Private Research Group Seeks Probe Of Farm Setup

WASHINGTON (AP)—A comprehensive investigation of the economic problems of farming and the nation's shrinking farm population has been proposed by the Population Reference Bureau, Inc.

The bureau, a private research organization, suggested the check into the life patterns of U.S. farmers be handled by a presidential human resources commission.

The investigation would look into the effects of migration into the cities by farming people, the question of further mechanization of agriculture and whether the industry will continue to provide jobs for an expanded labor force.

Also to be explored would be the possibility of providing training and orientation programs as low as the junior high school level so that farm youths with limited education will have something to "sell" when they enter the nation's labor force.

In its June bulletin, the bureau presented statistics to show the shrinking proportions of farm population to urban and non-farming families as well as the sharply decreased portion of national income now going to farmers.

"The abject poverty—poverty of land, diet, goods and cash—of the poorest third of the nation's farmers would shock even those hardy pioneers whose problem was to hew a living out of the abundance of a virgin continent," the bulletin said.

In the midst of unprecedented prosperity for the general population as shown by a rise from 209 billion dollars in national income in 1948 to 299.2 billion in 1955, the bulletin said, farm income has dropped from 19.7 billion to 13 billion in that same period.

The median money income for farm families in 1954, it said, was $1,968 or only 10 dollars more than in 1947. Urban and rural non-farm families meanwhile saw an increase from $3,207 in 1947 to $4,406 in 1954.

Most farm income is concentrated in the hands of the large farm owner, the report said pointing to U.S. Census Bureau figures and those of the Agriculture Department. The top 13 per cent of U.S. commercial farms produced 51 per cent of all farm products sold in 1949, with the average per farm gross sales in this group amounting to $22,951.

Tito, Soviet Chiefs Open Negotiations

MOSCOW (AP)—Yugoslav President Tito opened formal negotiations with the leaders of the Soviet Union today to complete the reconciliation of his version of communism and the Kremlin's post-Stalin brand.

Yugoslav circles said their chief of state would insist on retaining complete independence of action and freedom to continue the equitable relations he established with the West after Stalin booted him out of the Soviet bloc in 1948.

Diplomatic circles believed any rift still existing between the Yugoslav marshal and the present Soviet leadership would be completely erased during the talks.

ADVICE TO THE YOUNG

June—moon—spoon: The romantic month is here, the month of weddings and graduations. June is a parade of bright-eyed, chin-up young people setting out on the great adventures of life.

It's an opportunity older people can't resist. They pack more wise advice to the young generation in the 30 days of June than in all the other eleven months put together. Far be it from this column to be different.

Advice to the young usually begins with warnings of trouble ahead. This can get pretty long-winded because anyone over forty has been through so many troubles of his own and has seen so many of other peoples. Sometimes the advice never gets beyond a detailed listing of possible problems—and so on from there. Modern psychology has outlined some of the basic methods for solving problems—techniques that can be applied to all problems.

A time-honored method is to get sick. This is not advocated by psychologists or medical men, but it is still common for people faced with a dilemma to hide their heads in a pillow. Anyone who tends to ailments that keep him out of circulation for a day or two at a time will do well to look at these incidents with a fishy stare. It may be an unconscious escape that can develop into real mental illness.

Healthier methods of problem-solving suggested by the experts are basically four. First, look for all possible alternatives. Second, list all factors that must enter into a decision, and give the proper weight to each factor. Third, look into the future and try to predict

Radio Hookup For Ohio Penal System Eyed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The possibility of placing Ohio's major penal institutions on a statewide radio hookup is being given serious consideration, Correction Chief M. C. Koblenz said today.

A two-way radio system will be installed at London Prison Farm in 45 to 60 days and another will be placed in operation at Marion Correctional Institution next year, Koblenz said. Mansfield Reformatory already has such a system.

The London system will also serve the branch farm at Lebanon, about 60 miles to the southwest, he added.

A statewide Lookout would facilitate administrative work, the correction chief said.

The local prison radio systems, such as the one now in effect at Mansfield, enable work detail guards to be in contact with administration offices by means of the consequences of each possible course of action. Fourth, make a decision.

There's another not too satisfactory technique, the secret of which is time. Some problems just disappear if you leave them unsolved long enough.

walkie-talkie and radios in cars, Koblenz said.

He said prison population shifts scheduled in the next three years would make a statewide hookup "extremely desirable."

Ultimate capacity of 1,500 prisoners will be reached at the Marion Correctional Institution next year, Koblenz said. He added that an 11 million dollar construction project at Lebanon will be completed within three years, making room for a shift of prisoners from over-populated facilities.

The radio systems, both local and statewide, would enable guards to relay information on such things as injuries and walk-aways without leaving prisoners unattended, Koblenz said.

Coal Industry Finds New Life In Own Region

Ohio River Area's Industrial Buildup Helping Fuel Miners

By SAM DAWSON
PITTSBURGH (AP)—The once ailing American coal industry first hit the comeback trail by meeting the needs of western Europe. But today it is finding a new lease on life in its own back yard. All along the Ohio River, starting here and running to the Mississippi, new industrial plants are rising at costs totaling billions of dollars. Almost all are big users of coal or of the electric output fueled by coal.

Estimates of the amount of coal to be used this year have been raised several times since January. Coalmen now talk of a total production of 500 million tons, compared with 450 million last year, and nearly 400 million in 1954. They acknowledge, however, that second half 1956 output will probably be less than the first half, due to a probable let down in industrial activity as well as to seasonal factors in their own industry, such as vacations, and hot weather doldrums.

The revival in coal started last year in the big demand of European industry for American coal. The coal exporters' assn. of the United States says that overseas exports of American coal last year was around 35 million tons, more than double the 1954 volume. Domestic use is rising this year—sparked by the capacity output of the steel industry, the growing use of coal by the expanding electric power utilities, and by the fast industrial pace in general.

A spokesman for Pittsburgh Consolidation Coal says the only big shadow over the coal industry at the moment is the threat of a steel strike. It would choke off one of coal's biggest customers, and in time many industries that depend on steel mills for their materials. A strike lasting a month would hit the coal industry seriously.

But barring that, coalmen see good times ahead for them in this Ohio Valley, enjoying a big industrial boom. The Federal Reserve bank of Cleveland points out the trend to "move the coal consuming plant to the coal."

"Electric power companies are building new generating facilities practically on top of the coal beds," it says in its business review.

"New power stations are popping up all along the upper Ohio. The aluminum and chemical industries have joined the trek to coal along the upper Ohio, also."

The Atomic Energy Commission chose Portsmouth, Ohio, as the site of its huge atomic energy plant partly because of the near-by coal to supply its electrical needs.

Another lure for companies to build new plants along the Ohio is the cheap transportation afforded by Ohio River barges. Ohio Valley enthusiasts also stress the abundance of water supplies and the many available plant sites.

In Washington, defense planners smile on the projects, since they mean a dispersal of industries once concentrated in the older industrial centers, a goal of the military in planning for possible air attack.

Communities along the river are trying to finance new roads, schools and other public facilities to meet the needs of the new workers. They are also talking of enlarging the locks on the river so larger barges can operate efficiently.

Some of the new plants are in the building stage. Among those already completed are:

Allied Chemical & Dye's Solvay process division 12 million dollar plant at Moundsville, W. Va., and its national aniline division five million dollar plant at Moundsville.

Mobay Chemical's eight million dollar plant at New Martinsville, W. Va.

In the various stages of construction are:

Aluminum Co. of America's 50,000 ton smelter at Evansville, Ind. Kaiser Aluminum's 216 million plant at Ravenswood, W. Va.

A three-way 250 million dollar project at Cresap, W. Va., and Clarington, Ohio, for Olin Matteson's aluminum plant, to be powered by American Gas & Electric's plant, fueled by Pittsburgh Consolidation Coal's new mine near Cresap.

In the authorized stage are: Vanadium Corp. of America's ferro alloys plant at Dillonvale, Ohio, and the Ohio Power Co. 125 million dollar plant at Clarington, Ohio.

Ancient Seaport City Uncovered

DAMASCUS (AP)—A Syrian archaeologist today reported the discovery of the 4,000-year-old seaport city of Semira which had eluded excavation teams of four nations for a century.

Dr. Salim Abdel Abdulhak, head of the Syrian Archeological Department, predicted the discovery in northern Syria would attract worldwide interest.

He called Semira a "treasure mine of Phoenician, Aramean, Assyrian and other ancient civilizations, as far as known history."

California Cops Ban Rock And Roll

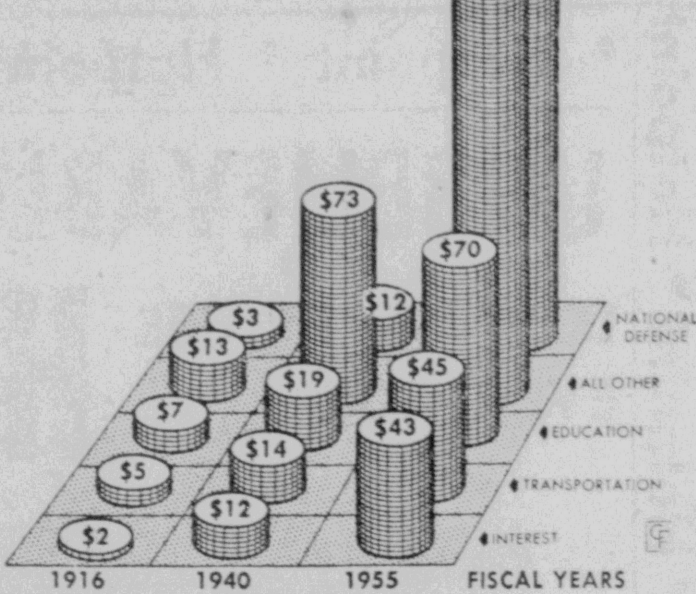

SANTA CRUZ, Calif. (AP)—Rock and roll for public dancing is out in Santa Cruz—by police order.

They say its heavy, pounding beat leads its fans to "highly suggestive, stimulating and tantalizing motions."

Police Lt. Richard Overton explained that he closed a weekend dance at Civic Auditorium because the music "drove to abandon" too many of the 200 teen-agers there.

Government Cost Up, Up, Up

TOWERING per capita increase in federal, state and local government outlays over the past four decades is illustrated by this chart, issued by the National Industrial Conference Board, New York. National defense, for instance, has multiplied more than 75 times.

Private Research Group Seeks Probe Of Farm Setup

WASHINGTON (AP)—A comprehensive investigation of the economic problems of farming and the nation's shrinking farm population has been proposed by the Population Reference Bureau, Inc.

The bureau, a private research organization, suggested the check into the life patterns of U.S. farmers be handled by a presidential human resources commission.

The investigation would look into the effects of migration into the cities by farming people, the question of further mechanization of agricultural production and whether industry will continue to provide jobs for an expanded labor force.

Also to be explored would be the possibility of providing training and orientation programs as low as the junior high school level so that farm youths with limited education will have something to "sell" when they enter the nation's labor force.

In its June bulletin, the bureau

presented statistics to show the shrinking proportions of farm population to urban and non-farming families as well as the sharply decreased portion of national income now going to farmers.

"The abject poverty—poverty of land, diet, goods and cash—of the poorest third of the nation's farmers would shock even those hardy pioneers whose problem was to hew a living out of the abundance of a virgin continent," the bulletin said.

In the midst of unprecedented prosperity for the general population as shown by a rise from 209 billion dollars in national income in 1948 to 299.2 billions in 1955 the bulletin said, farm income has dropped from 19.7 billion to 13 billions in that same period.

Most farm income is concentrated in the hands of the large farm owner, the report said pointing to U.S. Census Bureau figures and those of the Agriculture Department. The top 13 per cent of U.S. commercial farms produced 51 per cent of all farm products sold in 1947, with the average per farm gross sales in this group amounting to $22,951.

Pittsburgh's Big Delight Is Its Upstart Pirate '9'

PITTSBURGH (AP)—For the first time since Ralph Kiner left town, "Pirate" baseball is a vibrant page one story in Pittsburgh's daily life.

Bobby Bragan's upstarts from the basement have captivated the long hungry fans here. And from the Golden Triangle to distant cities, lovers of the underdog are jumping on the Pirate bandwagon.

A cynical visitor inclined to shrug off the Pirate spurt as "one of those things" got religion quickly. Pittsburgh won round one before the bellhop pocketed his tip and closed the hotel room door after flipping on the television set.

The TV announcer must have been clairvoyant. "I'd like to dedicate the next number to the experts (he said 'experts' with a sneer) who picked the Pirates to finish last... they all laughed! Jam de dum dum... 'Who's got the last laugh now?'"

On the way to the ball park the cab driver delivered an anti-Rickey lecture, putting the rap on Branch Rickey who stepped down as general manager last winter to serve in an advisory capacity as chairman of the board.

"The whole trouble was Rickey," said the cabbie. "I told him so right in this cab, too. He was too tough with those players, sitting out there in the bull pen (he hasn't been in a bull pen since 1914 in St. Louis) and eating out those kids in front of everybody."

All day during the drive over the Pennsylvania Turnpike the car radio had been beating the drums. Headlines screamed "Crowds Jam Downtown Ticket Office," "Expect 25,000 to Watch Long."

For once, they had underestimated. A standing room mob of 32,221 saw Long. A weary 30-year-old first baseman, do something no man ever had done — hit his eight home run in eight consecutive games.

Not satisfied with the customary ovation during Long's triumphant tour of the bases, they refused to let the game continue until Long ducked out of the dugout again and waved his cap.

Upstairs in his box, Mr. Rickey commented, "Never in my days did I ever see a player take a curtain call."

Around the corner from Forbes Field, Frank Gustine, an ex-Pirate, runs a tavern. The place was jammed.

"Look at these people," said Gustine. "Last week they wouldn't let me turn on the lights on TV. Everybody wanted to listen to the Pirates on radio." (There is no baseball TV in Pittsburgh except for a limited number of road games.)

A heavy migration of waterfowl into the western Canadian prairie region is taking place in the southern portions but are being delayed in more northerly areas because of frosts and slow run-off conditions. Only insignificant nesting activity has been reported in southern Alberta.

Waterfowl nesting in the provinces is getting a slow start but the over-all picture as of early May is satisfactory despite drought danger in southwestern Saskatchewan and southern Alberta. Balance of the prairie region is experiencing excessive moisture conditions resulting in a delay of nesting.

While southern Alberta and southwestern Saskatchewan has had little or no run-off a heavy run-off has taken place in central areas of Alberta and Saskatchewan and flood conditions in Manitoba. Extreme northern areas are still ice-bound across the prairie region. Mallards, pintails and Canadian geese are nesting in southern portions of Alberta. Nesting in the other provinces will pick up with the advent of rising temperatures and when other conditions become more favorable. On the whole, water conditions seem excellent, except in the comparatively small southerly areas.

Duke's sensational runner Dave Sime won honors as a Silver Skates speed skater in Madison Square Garden in 1956.

Pittsburgh manager Bobby Bragan and two of his coaches, Clyde Sukerth and Sammy Narron, were catchers.

Newest Reducing Diet Calls For Bread, Butter And Jam

By DOROTHY ROE
(By The Associated Press)

Next time you see a lady stuffing herself on bread, butter and strawberry jam, don't chide her. She may be trying out the latest reducing diet—one worked out by the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research.

This delightful diet, which allows unlimited quantities of sugar, butter, jams, jellies and other goodies, is described happily by Roy de Groot in a new book, "How I Reduced With the New Rockefeller Diet." De Groot, worried about his increasing girth, tells how he managed to enroll at the institute, and how he lost 45 pounds in his first 90 days on the diet—all without feeling hungry. This is a diet that should make life rosy for those sweet-tooth guys and gals who can't resist that gooey breakfast bun or that box of chocolates.

The idea, it seems, is that if you are allowed to eat your fill of all those starches and sweets, eventually you won't want them anymore. Your appetite will dwindle, and with it your avoirdupois.

This last diet theory completes the full circle, I believe. I have been noting the successive diet fads that have swept the country in recent years, and we've had work at improving their understanding of human nature.

As it happens, I am somewhat familiar with Ashley Montagu's writings; and on Sept. 15, last year, this column quoted from page 259 of his book "The Direction of Human Development" as follows:

"Whenever we meet with a failure to function as an adequate human being, we may be certain that the cause or causes are to be looked for in the love relationships of the person during the first six years of his life. It is through the means of love that the infant first develops a consciousness of himself in relation to another person—the fundamental social relationship. By being loved the child learns to love."

We coupled this excerpt with another from page 261, to wit: "Selfish behavior is produced as a result of (adult or maternal) failure to cooperate with the infant, failure to stimulate it towards altruistic behavior by being altruistic (that is, devoted towards it)."

A smaller book by Montagu, which sparked a furor of popular interest a few years ago, is titled "On Being Human" and published by Schuman. In it, he writes (page 47): "The answer to our first question 'What is the nature of life?' can be expressed in one word: cooperation; the interaction between organisms for mutual support, in such a way as to confer survival benefits upon each other. Another word for the same thing, B. R.

DEAR B. R.: Thank you for this suggestion, which I am glad to transmit to the audience, for the benefit of any who are willing to practically everything else but this.

It's a wonderful world, after all, when there's a diet to suit every man's taste, and to give everybody something to talk about after the subject of the weather is exhausted.

Hammarskjold Gets New UN Go-Ahead

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—Backed by a unanimous Security Council vote, U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold today began the second phase of his campaign to ease Middle East tension.

He was ready to assist Israel and her Arab neighbors in keeping up the momentum toward peace which he reported last month at the end of his special mission to the Middle East.

The 11-nation council gave him the go-ahead for a further effort after a week of debate on a British proposal which originally left the way open for broad peace negotiations. However, the resolution was drastically watered down to meet Arab objections.

Leaflets Threaten Death For Briton

LONDON (AP)—A car speeding through the streets of Manchester scattered leaflets today threatening death to Sir John Harding, governor of strife-torn Cyprus.

The leaflets, signed by a Cypriot extremist organization and addressed to Harding, said:

"You are a criminal and you've got to pay for your crimes. A bullet is waiting for you."

Police have been told that a group of Greek-speaking Cypriots have slipped into Britain with plans to make an attempt on Harding's life. They seek to avenge compatriots convicted as terrorists and hanged by the British on the Mediterranean island.

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: It would seem to be "carrying coals to Newcastle" for one of your readers to recommend a helpful book, but if you have not read this quite scholarly study, I think you would find it most interesting, and in line with much of your thinking.

It is "The Direction of Human Development" (Harpers), by the anthropologist, Ashley Montagu. It is, as it purports to be, "a scientific confirmation of the enduring belief that human love is essential to all social growth."

From a purely scientific (but not irreligious) point of view, the author establishes the vital "survival value" of love; and many of his observations—especially those pertaining to the mother-child relationship—would interest you, I am sure.

Detroit's Tiger Not So Timid In Play Now

Michigan Outfit Wins 7 In Row. Has AL By The Tail At Moment

(By The Associated Press) It's been a long haul, but Detroit's not-so-timid Tigers have the American League by the tail at the moment. They're sprinting along on a seven-game winning streak.

Three weeks ago Manager Bucky Harris had a last-place club. He's still 5 games out of the lead, but up in the first division and only a skip and a jump out of third.

Every one of the Tigers has put his bat to work in the seven-game success story—longest in the majors this season. Harvey Kuenn, batting .441 in that span, and Ray Boone, at .407, are the big guns.

Kuenn was 3-for-6 and Boone hammered home five runs with a homer, double and two singles in five trips Tuesday night as the Tigers outpowered Boston's Red Sox 14-11. Frank House, batting .571 on a part-time basis in Harris' platooning plans in the streak, muscled in with a three-run homer.

New York's first-place lead dwindled to 3½ games, meanwhile, as Kansas City handed the Yankees—who made five errors—their fourth straight defeat 7-4, despite homers by Yogi Berra, Joe Collins and Mickey Mantle, who hit his 21st Cleveland, with Bob Lemon winning his seventh, took over second by belting Baltimore 1-3. Chicago's White Sox slipped to third with a 3-1 loss at Washington.

Things are much cozier in the National. Pittsburgh, despite a 1-3 defeat at Chicago, has a four-percentage-point hold on the lead over Cincinnati, which trounced Philadelphia 9-4. It's a virtual three-way tie for first, with St. Louis three points back of the Redlegs after beating New York 4-1 while the Brooklyn Dodgers tripped Milwaukee to fourth 6-1 on Roger Craig's two-hitter.

For all their thumping, the Tigers had a ninth-inning scare as the Red Sox scored six times. Don Buddin socked a three-run homer in the rally off reliever Walt Masterson. Billy Klaus and Jackie Jensen also homered for the Sox, off starter Virgil Trucks, who won his second. Bob Porterfielder was the loser.

Wally Moon's two-run triple beat Jim Hearn and the Giants in the sixth as Willard Schmidt, winless since May 8, spun a five-hitter. The Cubs walloped Bob Friend, who sought his 10th victory, for five runs with two out in the third as Warren Hacker, winning his first, shut out the Pirates until the ninth, when Frank Thomas homered with two on.

Snead Says His Play 'Stinking'

NEW YORK (AP)—Sam Snead, who has blown half a dozen chances to win the National Open Golf Championship, has a single word to describe his prospect in the annual tournament next week. It's "stinking."

"If I could get my touch on the greens the way I've done the times (three) I've won the Masters and some other tournaments, I'd figure my odds pretty good," the rhythm man from Virginia said. "But I'm stinking."

Sam checked into town today for defense of his Round Robin championship at Wykagyl in nearby Westchester County, starting Thursday. After Sunday's final rounds, he sets off for Rochester, N. Y., and the 56th annual Open.

Highland Countians are scheduled to meet the boys from Blanchester on the Hillsboro lot and the Blanchester team has lost three in a row with a single win.

The other second-placer, the Chillicothe Businessmen, probably will have their hands full if they keep up, because Tommy Smalley's Good Hope outfit is slated to play them Sunday afternoon on the Chillicothe public park diamond. The Good Hope boys are breathing down the necks of the Businessmen with a 2-2 record for the season.

MILLEDGEVILLE's team very likely will be in for a busy afternoon at Bainbridge. Each team has won two and lost two.

The Wilmington aggregation appears to have a relatively soft touch for Sunday when it goes to Chillicothe to play the boys at the Federal Reformatory.

The SWO League race promises to be one of the toughest in many a year. Last Sunday's games provide the evidence of the closeness of the overall race:

Milledgeville edged Good Hope, 4 to 3 but it took 15 innings to get the job done; Jeffersonville, nosed out Wilmington, 5 to 2, to keep its record clean;

The Chillicothe Businessmen took an 8 to 4 decision from Blanchester; Bainbridge collected its second victory by squeezing by the Reform story at Chillicothe by a score of 4 to 1.

Hillsboro, which has won two and lost one, drew the week's bye. Because there are nine teams in the loop, one of them has to pass up a league tilt each week.

The biggest margin of victory in last Sunday's games was 4 runs and there was not a single shut-out.

Standing after the first month of play and games won and lost:

Jeffersonville	4	0
Hillsboro	2	1
Chillico Businessmen	2	2
Good Hope	2	2
Bainbridge	2	2
Milledgeville	2	2
Wilmington	2	2
Blanchester	0	3

Bobby Boyd Set To Joust Savage

CHICAGO (AP)—Bobby Boyd, second ranking middleweight contender in Ring Magazine's latest ratings, goes off his ninth straight victory tonight against the fighter who last defeated him, Milo Savage.

The lanky Chicago Negro, who lost to the 30-year-old Savage in New York on April 18, 1955, is an 8-5 favorite in the nationally televised (9 p. m. EST, ABC) return match in Chicago Stadium.

Boyd, 22, is unbeaten since Savage gave him a lesson as a devastating workman on the inside. Since then he has stacked up eight victims in a row.

Redlegs Get Another Sniff Of 2nd Place

CINCINNATI (AP)—The Cincinnati Redlegs are back again, breathing the heady air of second place in the National League.

Twice before this year the Reds have shinned up the league ladder to second place, only to falter and fall back.

The Reds' 9-4 victory last night over Philadelphia's Phillies helped boost them back to their present eminence—four percentage points away from the league leading Pittsburgh Pirates.

Two Cincinnati "muscle men," Wally Post and rookie Frank Robinson, were in good form Tuesday night, Post belting two homers, one for three runs. Outfielder Robinson got his 11th round-tripper hit of the season.

In all, the Redlegs got 13 hits. Southpaw Joe Nuxhall, who has had trouble getting started this year, registered his second win after getting into and out of trouble in the fifth and eighth innings.

The Phils loaded the bases in the fifth, helped by a wild Nuxhall throw, and put two runs across. Philadelphia got its last two tallies in the eighth on a pair of doubles by Granny Hamner and Stan Lopata. Del Ennis' fly out that put Lopata on third, Lopata coming home when Willie Jones

Moore Seeks Only Shot At Heavy Title

LONDON (AP)—Archie Moore today brushed aside all questions about another defense of his light heavyweight title and said:

"I'm the best heavyweight in the world and that's the title I am after."

The cagey old fellow from San Diego, Calif., cleared his last hurdle on the way to the crown vacated by Rocky Marciano with a 10th-round TKO of Yolande Pompey of Trinidad in a light heavyweight title fight here last night.

"We had signed contracts for this fight in London so we had to go ahead with it," Moore said.

"Now I want that heavyweight title. I'm entitled to it. Marciano nominated me as his logical successor. Floyd Patterson and Tommy Jackson are fighting Friday.

Detroit's Tiger Not So Timid In Play Now

Michigan Outfit Wins 7 In Row. Has AL By The Tail At Moment

(By The Associated Press)
It's been a long haul, but Detroit's not-so-timid Tigers have the American League by the tail at the moment. They're sprinting along on a seven-game winning streak.

Three weeks ago Manager Bucky Harris had a last-place club. He's still 5 games out of the lead, but up in the first division and only a skip and a jump out of third.

Every one of the Tigers has put his bat to work in the seven-game success story—longest in the majors this season. Harvey Kuenn, batting .441 in that span, and Ray Boone, at .407, are the big guns. Kuenn was 3-for-6 and Boone hammered home five runs with a homer, double and two singles in five trips Tuesday night as the Tigers outpowered Boston's Red Sox 14-11. Frank House, batting .371 on a part-time basis in Harris' platooning plans in the streak, muscled in with a three-run homer.

New York's first-place lead dwindled to 3½ games, meanwhile, as Kansas City handed the Yankees—who made five errors—their fourth straight defeat 7-4 despite homers by Yogi Berra, Joe Collins and Mickey Mantle, who hit his 21st. Cleveland, with Bob Lemon winning his seventh, took over second by beating Baltimore 3-3. Chicago's White Sox slipped to third with a 3-1 loss at Washington.

Things are much cozier in the National. Pittsburgh, despite a 7-3 defeat at Chicago, has a four-percentage-point hold on the lead over Cincinnati, which trounced Philadelphia 9-4. It's a virtual three-way tie for first, with St. Louis three points back of the Redlegs after beating New York 8-1 while the Brooklyn Dodgers tripped Milwaukee to fourth 6-1 on Roger Craig's two-hitter.

For all their thumping, the Tigers had a ninth-inning scare as the Red Sox scored six times. Don Buddin socked a three-run homer in the rally off reliever Walt Masterson. Billy Klaus and Jackie Jensen also homered for the Sox, off starter Virgil Trucks, who won his second. Bob Porterfielder was the loser.

Wally Moon's two-run triple beat Jim Hearn and the Giants in the sixth as Willard Schmidt, winless since May 8, spun a five-hitter. The Cubs walloped Bob Friend, who sought his 10th victory, for five runs with two out in the third as Warren Hacker, winning his first, shut out the Pirates until the ninth, when Frank Thomas homered with two on.

Redlegs Get Another Sniff Of 2nd Place

CINCINNATI (AP)—The Cincinnati Redlegs are back again, breathing the heady air of second place in the National League.

Twice before this year the Reds have shinnied up the league ladder to second place, only to falter and fall back.

The Reds' 9-4 victory last night over Philadelphia's Phillies helped boost them back to their present eminence—four percentage points away from the league leading Pittsburgh Pirates.

Two Cincinnati "muscle men," Wally Post and rookie Frank Robinson, were in good form Tuesday night, Post belting two homers, one for three runs. Outfielder Robinson got his 11th round-tripper hit of the season.

In all, the Redlegs got 13 hits. Southpaw Joe Nuxhall, who has had trouble getting started this year, registered his second win after getting into and out of trouble in the fifth and eighth innings.

The Phils loaded the bases in the fifth, helped by a wild Nuxhall throw, and put two runs across.

Philadelphia got its last two tallies in the eighth on a pair of doubles by Granny Hamner and Stan Lopata. Del Ennis' fly out that put Lopata on third, Lopata coming home when Willie Jones

Moore Seeks Only Shot At Heavy Title

LONDON (AP)—Archie Moore today brushed aside all questions about another defense of his light heavyweight title and said:

"I'm the best heavyweight in the world and that's the title I am after."

The cagey old fellow from San Diego, Calif., cleared his last hurdle on the way to the crown vacated by Rocky Marciano with a 10th-round TKO of Yolande Pompey of Trinidad in a light heavyweight title fight here last night.

"We had signed contracts for this fight in London so we had to go ahead with it," Moore said.

"Now I want that heavyweight title. I'm entitled to it. Marciano nominated me as his logical successor. Floyd Patterson and Tommy Jackson are fighting Friday.

Ohio Public Links Golfers Eyeing Title

COLUMBUS (AP) — Ohio's public links golfers are drawing a bead on the state amateur championship this year, a title no fee course player has ever captured.

The pay-as-you-go contingent will have 24 qualifiers in the amateur field at Mansfield's Westbrook Club for the July 9-14 match play event, and the Ohio Public Links Assn. is trying to line up its finest talent to contest with the private clubbers.

Each of the eight districts will be permitted to select its public links entrants in any way it desires. E. O. Gifford of Columbus, treasurer of the fee course group, said today. Entries, accompanied by the $8 tournament fee, must be in Gifford's hands by July 2.

Cincinnati, Youngstown and Steubenville districts will be allowed two public links entrants each in the amateur. Toledo, Dayton and Columbus districts get three each. Akron four and Cleveland five.

"Districts which exceed their quota of entrants are asked to send in the extra names, with the entry fees," Gifford said. "Then, if any district fails to fill its quota, alternates from the other districts will be permitted to play."

Joe Patton of Steubenville, secretary of the publiclinksters, observed:

"This is the year we're going after the amateur title. Jack Jimmerman of Dayton almost made it last year, holding a four-up lead at one point in the finals, but he finally lost out. We hope to throw our finest players into this year's tournament."

Wally Post Likes Homers In Pairs

CINCINNATI (AP)—Wally Post of the Cincinnati Redlegs apparently likes to hit his home runs in pairs.

The hard-hitting outfielder hit two home runs in one game for the third time this season last night as the Redlegs thumped the Phillies 9-4.

He also had a pair in each game of a doubleheader against the Chicago Cubs April 29. In 1955, Wally turned the trick three times.

Ohio Public Links Golfers Eyeing Title

COLUMBUS (AP) — Ohio's public links golfers are drawing a bead on the state amateur championship this year, a title no fee course player has ever captured.

The pay-as-you-go contingent will have 24 qualifiers in the amateur field at Mansfield's Westbrook Club for the July 9-14 match play event, and the Ohio Public Links Assn. is trying to line up its finest talent to contest with the private clubbers.

Each of the eight districts will be permitted to select its public links entrants in any way it desires. E. O. Gifford of Columbus, treasurer of the fee course group, said today. Entries, accompanied by the $8 tournament fee, must be in Gifford's hands by July 2.

Cincinnati, Youngstown and Steubenville districts will be allowed two public links entrants each in the amateur. Toledo, Dayton and Columbus districts get three each, Akron four and Cleveland five.

"Districts which exceed their quota of entrants are asked to send in the extra names, with the entry fees," Gifford said. "Then, if any district fails to fill its quota, alternates from the other districts will be permitted to play."

Joe Patton of Steubenville, secretary of the publiclinksters, observed:

"This is the year we're going after the amateur title. Jack Jim-

Wally Post Likes Homers In Pairs

CINCINNATI (AP)—Wally Post of the Cincinnati Redlegs apparently likes to hit his home runs in pairs.

The hard-hitting outfielder hit two home runs in one game for the third time this season last night as the Redlegs thumped the Phillies 9-4.

He also had a pair in each game of a doubleheader against the Chicago Cubs April 29. In 1955, Wally turned the trick three times.

Organists View Wedding Music

Finer Music Gaining, Group Observes

Church music for church weddings was the theme of a meeting of the Washington C. H. Organ Club held Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. John P. Case.

Mrs. Case led a discussion on church music, guiding the proceedings with church pamphlets and magazine articles. The group noted the growing public appreciation of finer and more churchy music for weddings.

Members of the club contributed to the evening's program organ and vocal selections all chosen for their musical value. Consideration was given to the fact that the wedding is, in Mrs. Case's words, "a service of divine worship in which the music, though serious in nature, should strike a festive note of joy and grace."

Among trends noted by the group in wedding music were the use of a choir for vocal music; advice against connecting all numbers with a series of modulations; prohibition of background music during the ceremony; speaking, rather than singing, the Lord's Prayer; the use of a processional hymn, played, or sung by a choir, instead of the traditional Bridal Chorus from "Lohengrin."

REFRESHMENTS were served by Mrs. Case and Miss Kathleen Davis at the close of the program.

Guests from out of town were Mrs. William Sulzberger, Mrs. Ernest Edmondson and Mrs. Gerda Oldham, all of Greenfield.

Organ preludes contributed by members were "Lied," by Vienne, from Mrs. William Sulzberger; "Nuptial Song," by Duhos; Marian Christopher; "Aria," Handel, and "Sarabande," Jennings; Mrs. Case; "Two Preludes," Oldroyd and "Deck Thyself," Telemann; Clarence Barger; "A Wedding Prayer," Dunlap; Mrs. Calvin Johnson and "The Lord's Prayer," Bach; Mrs. Gerda Oldham.

Two vocal solos, "The Voice that Breathed Our Eden" and "Oh Perfect Love," were sung by Kathleen Davis.

Wedding processions or marches played were "March," Flagler; Karl J. Kay; "Processional," Clokey; Mrs. Sulzberger; "Trumpet Tune," Purcell and "Psalm XIX," Marcello; Mrs. Case. As a recessional, replacing the Mendelssohn march, Mrs. Case played "Carillon," by Vienne.

My Cherub II Wins In First Dog Show

A cute little toy pug puppy started following the footsteps of his illustrious father when he went from his home on the Jeffersonville pike to Cincinnati for the weekend dog show. The show was primarily for puppies.

My Cherub of Whispering Pines, the light tan colored father of My Cherub II, has been a champion since last September. He piled up his championship points at shows over a wide section and now is recognized as one of the top toy pug dogs of the country.

His son, now five months old, made his debut into the show world an auspicious one. He not only won the class for toy pugs from six other outstanding puppies, but he also took the first place ribbon awarded to the best of all toy breeds.

Added to this—and the honor for which his owners, Mr. and Mrs. Horatio Wilson, a proudest—was the "bred by exhibitor" tag that went with the ribbons.

The toy pug dogs are more than a hobby for the Wilsons; they are a business, too. He said more than 40 of them had been sold last year and that about 20 had been sold so far this year. "They have gone all over the United States," he commented.

Thanks Extended For Master Plan

'Outstanding Service' Says City Manager

After going over the master plan for the development of the Washington C. H. area that was presented at the annual meeting of the Chamber of Commerce here two weeks ago, City Manager James F. Parkinson has extended "the sincere appreciation of the city" to Prof. Rudolph Frankel, head of the School of City Design at Miami University in Oxford, where the plan was made.

The master plan, or comprehensive plan as it was referred to frequently, was presented in a series of charts and maps designed to show area as it now is, its growth and how it could be in the future by planning ahead.

The plan was based on research and study of more than a year by graduate students under the supervision of Prof. Frankel. The plan was unfolded here for the first time at the annual meeting of the Chamber of Commerce.

IN GENERAL, the plan called for a re-routing of the arterial highways (primarily the CCC Highway) north of the city; the dedication of two areas for industrial development, one to the northwest of Washington C. H. and the other at the northeast; the beautification of Paint Creek's looping course through the city and development of residential areas under strict zoning and building codes.

In his letter to Prof. Frankel, Parkinson said: "As an engineer and a city manager, I am impressed by the highly professional manner in which the work (making the master plan) was prosecuted, the careful attention to detail and the great amount of work, study and effort employed."

Parkinson concluded his relatively brief letter by assuring Prof. Frankel that "the city and the entire community are deeply indebted to you and your graduate students, and to Miami University, for the outstanding service you have rendered us."

Fair Hog Show Is Taking Form

Swine Association Goes Over Plans

Final plans for the Market Hog Show and Sale to be held at the Fair here next month were gone over by the officers and directors of the Swine Breeders and Feeders Association when they met Tuesday evening at Anderson's Drive-in Restaurant.

The board agreed that the show would be judged Thursday of the Fair, starting at 8 A. M., and that the hogs would be sold at 5 o'clock the afternoon of the same day. The board also approved the suggestion that the 4-H market hogs be sold at the same time.

Members of the Awards Committee announced that four trophies had been donated by business firms. These will go to the winners in the various market hog show classes.

FINAL committees will be announced at the next regular meeting of the association on Tuesday evening, July 3.

The Market Hog Show, along with the general breeding classes and Junior Fair exhibits should make this one of the outstanding hog shows in the country this year, the board feels.

County Agent W. W. Montgomery reviewed the enrollment in the 4-H livestock projects which will show at the Fair and reported a total of 271 for this year compared with 252 last year. Increases were shown in both the swine and sheep projects, he said.

He gave the following enrollments as of June 1 — Pig — market 86; Pig — breeding 16; sheep — market 53; sheep — breeding 7; steer feeding — 39; dairy — 29; beef breeding — 17; poultry — 8; rabbits — 16.

Organists View Wedding Music

Finer Music Gaining, Group Observes

Church music for church weddings was the theme of a meeting of the Washington C. H. Organ Club held Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. John P. Case.

Mrs. Case led a discussion on church music, guiding the proceedings with church pamphlets and magazine articles. The group noted the growing public appreciation of finer and more churchly music for weddings.

Members of the club contributed to the evening's program organ and vocal selections all chosen for their musical value. Consideration was given to the fact that the wedding is, in Mrs. Case's words, "a service of divine worship in which the music, though serious in nature, should strike a festive note of joy and grace."

Among trends noted by the group in wedding music were the use of a choir for vocal music; advice against connecting all numbers with a series of modulations; prohibition of background music during the ceremony; speaking, rather than singing, the Lord's Prayer; the use of a processional hymn, played, or sung by a choir, instead of the traditional Bridal Chorus from "Lohengrin."

REFRESHMENTS were served by Mrs. Case and Miss Kathleen Davis at the close of the program.

Guests from out of town were Mrs. William Sulzberger, Mrs. Ernest Edmondson and Mrs. Gerda Oldham, all of Greenfield.

Organ preludes contributed by members were "Lied," by Vienne, from Mrs. William Sulzberger; "Nuptial Song," Dubois; Marian Christopher; "Aria," Handel, and "Sarabande," Jennings; Mrs. Case; "Two Preludes," Oldroyd and "Deck Thyself," Telemann; Clarence Barger; "A Wedding Prayer," Dunlap; Mrs. Calvin Johnson and "The Lord's Prayer," Bach; Mrs. Gerda Oldham.

Two vocal solos, "The Voice that Breathed Our Eden" and "Oh Perfect Love," were sung by Kathleen Davis.

Wedding processions or marches played were "March," Flagler; Karl J. Kay; "Processional," Clokey; Mrs. Sulzberger; "Trumpet Tune," Purcell and "Psalm XIX," Marcello; Mrs. Case. As a recessional, replacing the Mendelssohn march, Mrs. Case played "Carillon," by Vienne.

Commander Roher named the following appointive officers: Chaplain Paul Mills; Sergeant at Arms Joe Satchell; Service Officer Robert Conway; Publicity agent Harry K. Armstrong and Historian Joe Shaw.
